BRING ENGLAND TO CATHOLICISM, POPE PLEADS

2 Britons Canonized; 50,000 Present.

VATICAN CITY, May 19.—(AP)—Pope Pius besought the return of England to the Roman Catholic church today in a sermon to 50,000 persons attending the canonization of two Britons.

Sir Thomas More and Bishop John Fisher, executed 400 years ago by order of Henry VIII. for opposing his marriage to Anne Boleyn, were made saints by Pope Pius XI. in a gorgeous ceremony in St. Peter's.

The pontiff urged his audience to pray that England might return to Rome, declaring:

"We desire that with your ardent prayers invoking patronage of the new saints you ask of the Lord that which is so dear to our heart—namely: that England, in the words of St. Paul, 'meditating the happy consummation which crowned the life' of two martyrs, may 'follow them in their faith' and return to the Father's house 'in unity, faith and knowledge of the Son of God.'"

"Let those who are still separated from us consider attentively the ancient glories of their church, which were at once the reflection and the increment of the glories of the Church of Rome.

"Let them consider, moreover, and remember that this apostolic see has been waiting for them so long and so anxiously, not as coming to a strange dwelling place but as finally returning to their paternal home."

The pope said the church as founded by Jesus Christ was destined never to perish.

Special seats were given several thousand English pilgrims here for the ceremony. Many British bishops were among them. Former King Alfonso of Spain and his family were present also.

Throng Cheers Sainting.

The throng of half a hundred thousand released a huge cheer when the pope pronounced the two martyrs saints. He declared in Latin that they "be inscribed in the catalog of the saints and their memory be celebrated in the universal church every year with pious devotion."

At that moment six silver trumpets, sounded by Swiss guards in a balcony over the main door of the basilica, pealed throughout the cathedral. The great bells of St. Peter's boomed, and the bells of Rome's more than 400 churches took up the refrain.

The canonization proper began at the moment a cardinal and two prelates knelt before the pope and thrice asked him in Latin to declare Blessed Thomas More and Bishop John Fisher saints.

The pope gave a set answer to the first two requests that it was first necessary to pray to God to help them. He led his great congregation in prayers and the Litany of the Saints.

Honors Third Request.

When the three ecclesiastics made their third request, however, the pope rose to his feet. With his lofty miter on his head he pronounced the solemn declaration placing the British martyrs in the order of saints.

A ritual that has been observed for centuries followed at the offertory of mass. Three cardinals approached the pope. In token of gratitude for the canonization they offered him two large loaves of bread, some candles, a small keg of wine, another of water and three bird cages. The first cage contained two doves, the second two pigeons, and the third a group of small birds.

The mass over, Pope Pius imparted his apostolic blessing to the congregation. As he was borne from the cathedral on his portable throne the crowd shouted "Viva il Papa!"

MODERATES WIN CZECH ELECTION; NAZIS MAKE GAIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, May 19.—Official circles declared tonight that the moderate party supporting Dr. Eduard Benes, Czechoslovakia's foreign minister, remained in its strong position in today's parliamentary election with an approximate gain of 10 per cent of the votes.

The German Nazi minorities led by Konrad Henlein and the Czech Fascists made big advances, but not enough to endanger the Czech republic, authorities said. The Bohemian Nazis smashed the upper German parties and won 75 per cent of the German votes.

RUSSIA TO BUILD 3 NEW GIANT FLYING PALACES

Blame 'Air Hoodlum' for Death of 49.

MOSCOW, May 19.—(AP)—The council of people's commissars today authorized construction of three new planes of the same type as the Maxim Gorky to replace the world's largest land plane, which crashed yesterday with a loss of forty-nine lives.

Soviet authorities announced that the new giant aircraft would be named Vladimir [Nicolai] Lenin, Josef Stalin, and Maxim Gorky, for three of the soviet's greatest heroes.

Officials blamed yesterday's tragedy on an "air hoodlum." The victims of the crash of the original Maxim Gorky will be buried at 6 p. m. tomorrow at the old Donskoi monastery.

Plane to Serve as Memorial.

The immedate move to replace the Maxim Gorky was initiated when Mikhail Koltsoff, head of the committee which sponsored the building of the original craft, telephoned the communist party newspaper Pravda from Paris and asserted:

"The bolsheviks never retreat."

He demanded that soviet Russia build a "larger, more beautiful, and more powerful" ship even than the old Gorky, to serve as a memorial to the victims of the disaster.

Workers in the Moscow factories met after work today, expressed condolences to the families of the victims and announced their support of Koltsoff's project.

Bodies of the 49 victims, many of which had been dismembered, were collected and held in a morgue for tomorrow's state funeral.

Police Guard Wreckage.

The village of Socol, where the "flying palace," was hurtled after its collision with a smaller stunting plane, was surrounded by hundreds of police, keeping the curious away from places where the wreckage was strewn over a half mile of territory.

The stunting of Pilot Blagin in the smaller plane, which was held responsible for the disaster, was an example of "a criminal lack of discipline" which the government and the communist party "are removing from the air fleet with hot irons," the newspaper Pravda said.

Orders had been issued never to stunt in the vicinity of the Moscow airdrome, said Pravda. It termed stunters "air hoodlums" and called for enforcement of orders against stunting.

Small Plane Loosens Wing.

An official explanation of the accident was that the Gorky broke up because the small plane loosened a wing, throwing a sudden strain on all other parts when the huge craft went into a dive.

Pravda declared the soviet was in a position to construct planes of the type of the Maxim Gorky in large numbers any time it wished.

"We have other powerful air dreadnaughts," it said. "The strength of aviation is not gauged by one plane alone. Furthermore, if it is considered necessary our country is able in a very short time to construct as many planes of the Gorky type as it desires."

Succeeds to Gorky's honors.

Commander Ladin of the Maxim Gorky propaganda air squadron also promised in a speech at a memorial meeting of the squadron at the Moscow airport that a new machine would be built to replace the Gorky.

Among the numerous planes of the squadron, which are devoted to spreading Bolshevik propaganda within the soviet union, is the giant ANT 14, which succeeded to the Gorky's honors as the largest soviet plane.

Its pilot, Chulkoff, was following the Gorky in the air at the time of the disaster, with thirty-five excursionists aboard his ship, and was an eyewitness of the crash.

Assails "Air Hoodlumism."

He told the squadron that the airport which borders the village of Socol was suddenly overrun with people rushing to the scene of the disaster. He said he had to take his passengers for an extra quarter hour's ride until the field was cleared.

Chief Kachoff of the civil air fleet issued a statement blaming the accident on Blagin's "air hoodlumism" and asserting stricter discipline must be established among civil aviators.

Mikhaeff, one of the two pilots to perish in the disaster, never before in his long career had a serious accident, it was pointed out by soviet officials. He was a veteran of the world war and wore a Lenin decoration, the highest award in the soviet union.

Boris Gromov, regular pilot of the Gorky, owed his life to illness. Almost invariably Gromov was at the controls of the machine when it took to the air. But an attack of the grip confined him to his home yesterday and a substitute pilot made the ill-fated flight.

5 Overcome in Spectacular So. Side Blaze

Five firemen were overcome in a spectacular fire which broke out late yesterday afternoon in a brick building at 4713 South Ashland avenue. Massed fire apparatus blocked Ashland avenue, the important artery from the southwest side, and hundreds of home bound Sunday drivers were delayed.

Thousands of residents of the neighborhood were attracted by the heavy smoke caused by the burning lether in the building which is occupied by Everybody's shoe store. Chief Fire Marshal Michael Corrigan said he believed the blaze started from an explosion of accumulated gas from a heater in the basement of the store. The scene is only a few blocks from where the great stockyards fire broke out just a year ago yesterday.

Carried Out by Comrades.

All the firemen were overcome by gas while they were fighting fire in the basement. One, Capt. David Hackett of engine company No. 52, staggered to the open air, but the other four were carried out by their comrades.

They are Henry Maloney, 49 years old; James Campbell, 48; James Conroy, 28, and Walter Ackerman, 35 years old, all members of Capt. Hackett's command. The five were first given oxygen as an emergency measure and then were taken to the Evangelical Deaconess hospital. There the conditions of Maloney and Campbell were described as serious.

Damage Put at $5,000.

Fire Marshal Corrigan said the damage to the stock, which was a total loss, would not exceed $5,000, while the damage to the building itself would be much less.

The fire was next door to Goldblatt's department store and annex at 4700 South Ashland avenue, and the firemen fought to keep the blaze from spreading to those buildings.

BOAT OVERTURNS; FATAL TO SON OF CLARENCE SEIPP

Three Yale university students clung to their sailboat for an hour yesterday when a gust of wind capsized it two miles off Branford, Conn., in Long Island sound. Shortly after their rescue Philip Seipp, 19 years old, died, according to dispatches, because of exhaustion and heart failure caused by submersion. He was the son of Clarence Seipp, 232 Walton place, an investment counselor. The other two students are Carl M. Lynge Jr. of Bridgeport, Conn., and Andrew B. Huntingdon of Fairfield, Conn.

FROG FROM BAYOU WINS BIG CONTEST WITH SHORT JUMPS

New York, May 19.—[Special.]—If the sleeping soul of Jim Smiley, the Mark Twain character who educated the notorious frog Dan'l, bothers itself over such things at all, it perhaps remarked with regret this afternoon the decadence of the venerable pastime of frog jumping.

For out of a welter of efforts in which 175 imported jumping frogs participated on the mall at Central park to commemorate the celebrated frog jumping scandal of Angel's camp, California, for the edification of interested New Yorkers, the Louisiana frog, Abis Villeret of the bayous, was crowned queen of the jumpers with a puny series of three leaps which totaled a little better than three feet.

Boby Blimp grouped three jumps for a total of fourteen feet to win the seventh heat of the afternoon. The Blimp wilted in the semi-final round, however, after setting what may have been an all time record for frog jumps and never figured in the finish.

The finish found Mickey Mouse, Yankee Clipper, Maj. Hoople, John Campbell McLean, and the winner grouped in ring number one when seven heats and two semi-finals had narrowed down the field of 175 jumpers.

Joseph Goldstein, who represented the boys of the University settlement, handled the winner, and received a silver medal for his success. He couldn't explain his frog's name.

40 ON BUILDING WATCHING FETE FALL IN STREET

Yakima, Wash., May 19.—(AP)—Twenty-six persons were injured, one fatally, by the collapse of a building cornice on which spectators at a pioneer day's celebration were standing today. A second man was expected to die.

The accident marked the closing event of the pioneer celebration. The cornice of a two story brick building, from which about forty persons were watching the three mile long parade, gave way, plunging them upon the densely packed sidewalk below.

Tanks She'll Go Home; May Have to Stay There

Los Angeles, Cal., May 19.—(AP)—Greta Garbo's often quoted "I tank I go back to Sweden" is real. She really does. But Immigration Inspector Judson Shaw said today if she does not come to his office in person and sign a reintry permit she may have difficulty in getting back into the United States. The actress insists that the permit be delivered at her home.

Jane Addams Gains; Hope for Recovery

Miss Jane Addams, 75 year old noted social worker, was reported in a serious condition, but in no immediate danger, last night at Passavant hospital, where she underwent an operation for abdominal adhesions early Saturday.

"At present there are no alarming symptoms," said Dr. James A. Britton, her physician, after a visit to her bedside. "She was able to take nourishment this evening for the first time since the operation and there is no reason now to think that she will not pull through, although the seriousness of a major operation to one of her age must be considered.

"She has been through enough illness to do away with several people and has had several major operations. But she is a remarkable woman."

Operated On in 1931.

Her last previous operation was in Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore in December, 1931. Following a fall from a ricksha in Japan during a world tour in 1923 she was operated upon for a tumor in Tokio hospital. During recent years she suffered bronchial trouble and frequently required rest periods after overwork.

Several days ago Miss Addams was found running a temperature and Saturday morning Dr. Britton told her she would have to go to the hospital.

"How soon?" Miss Addams inquired cheerfully.

"Right away," replied the physician. "Say a half an hour."

Miss Addams responded that this was satisfactory, because it would take her just a half an hour to finish the book she was reading.

Recovering from Illness.

Miss Addams spent last summer convalescing from bronchitis at a friend's summer home near Hadlyme, Conn. Since then she had limited her work and public appearances because of her health, but two weeks ago she interrupted her quiet régime to go to Washington for a world peace meeting.

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

KETCHIKAN, Alaska, May 19.—The freighter Denali, in command of Capt. T. E. Healy, with a crew of thirty-one, eleven passengers, and four stowaways, early today hit the rocks on New Zayas Island, Dixon entrance, and is a total loss. Passengers and crew were brought to Ketchikan tonight by the coast guard cutter Cyane. On board was fifty tons of dynamite which exploded as a result of fire starting after every one had left the vessel.

Chiropody Bill Hits Purse of the Footsore

Springfield, Ill., May 19.—[Special.]—State Senator George M. Maypole's [Dem., Chicago] chiropody bill, which has been described by its opponents as a measure to make corns and bunions more painful to the pocketbook, is to be the subject of a senate committee hearing Wednesday.

Representatives of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce and the Chicago Association of Commerce, who have branded the bill unfair to the public which nurses along its aching dogs—and who doesn't?—are expected to attend and present their arguments.

Provisions of Bill.

Among provisions in the bill are these:

1. No one but a licensed chiropodist can recommend a corn plaster.

2. A shoe salesman who would suggest to a customer that maybe a little wider vamp would ease up on the old bunion would be liable to fine and imprisonment [unless he were a licensed chiropodist].

3. Nurses, osteopaths, chiropractors, and masseurs are prohibited from massaging or giving electrical or mechanical treatments to any person having any foot ailment.

"Premium on Ignorance."

A legal opinion, explaining the true nature of the bill, has been drawn by Attorney Carl R. Latham of Alden, Latham & Young of Chicago, who stated flatly that the "proposed act puts a premium on ignorance instead of on intelligence and training."

"It appears that its principal aim," the opinion continued, "is to benefit the present practicing chiropodists in this state by limiting the number of licensed chiropodists and prohibiting any person other than licensed chiropodists and duly licensed physicians and surgeons from giving any massage . . . or any other kind of treatment to the human foot."

Need License to Give Advice.

Mr. Latham pointed out that the act seemed to prohibit not only the recommendation of corn plasters by non-chiropodistic salesmen, but also would prevent such persons advising the use of "arch supports, shoes especially manufactured to care for any malformation or foot ailment, or any powders, lotions, pads, or any other foot remedies."

Some opponents hold that if the bill were passed every shoe store would have to employ at least one chiropodist, which would be quite a boost for the schools of chiropody. The present state law requires that a chiropodist be graduated from one of these institutions, after taking two years' instruction, before he can be licensed to practice.

HOLD UP COUPLE IN ROGERS PARK; GET $4,400 LOOT

Property valued at more than $4,400 was taken from Mr. and Mrs. Samuel A Ward, 1263 Pratt boulevard, by two armed men in a Rogers Park street robbery early today. With the Wards when they arrived in front of their home was John Green, colored, employé of a garage at 1225 Morse avenue, who was to drive their car back for overnight parking. Ward had just stepped out on the sidewalk when the bandits, in a car, drove alongside and ordered him to get in again.

One of the men then sat beside Green and compelled him to drive to 6817 Wayne avenue. There the pair took $50 and a watch from Ward and a watch, two rings, and a diamond brooch from Mrs. Ward. One of the rings was valued at $3,000 and the brooch at $750. Green was not robbed.

McCARL LISTS IRREGULARITIES IN CONTRACTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 19.—[Special.]—A million dollars' worth of government contracts were dished out in violation of the law or in a questionable manner by the Tennessee Valley Authority as it launched its miniature planned society, it was learned today from an audit of the TVA by Controler General J. R. McCarl.

Some of the violations of law or irregularities which McCarl claims to have uncovered in TVA accounts include:

The awarding without competitive bidding of a contract which obligated the government for an indefinite sum of money, estimated at $615,000.

Overpayment of Contracts.

Overpayments of an original contract by as much as 120 per cent.

Awarding of contracts, in contravention of law, to firms which were not the low bidders, with one contract going to a bidder who was seventh from low.

Failure to require one large contractor to post performance bond and at the same time the payment of fees to this contractor in advance, despite a legal prohibition against advance payments.

Solicitation of bids by telephone or circulars among a certain group of private business houses, or in other irregular ways.

Proceedings Are Questionable.

Companies which obtained contracts from TVA under these illegal or questionable proceedings include the White Motor company, the Marion Steam Shovel company, the Bucyrus-Erie Shovel company, the Stone and Webster Engineering company, Research corporation, and the McClung Hardware company.

Contracts let by TVA to which McCarl took exception aggregated $1,001,928, ranging in size from a few dollars to more than half a million. Where he claimed to find actual illegal letting of contracts, McCarl charged TVA with violating either Section 3648 or Section 3709. The first of these laws outlaws cost plus contracts and advance payment of fees, while the second requires competitive bidding, he explained.

Two or three companies were shown by the audit to have received TVA contracts in more than one instance when they were not the low bidders.

Three Contracts For Shovels.

The Marion Steam Shovel company was given three such contracts. TVA bought a rebuilt steam shovel from this company for $8,000 when the Thew company had entered low bids of $6,000 and $7,000. The same company sold TVA another rebuilt shovel for $9,000 when the Equipment corporation bid $3,500. The biggest contract, however, was for an electric shovel costing $37,240, on which the Bucyrus-Erie company, the Harnischfeger company, and the Link Belt company had all underbid the Marion company.

The White Motor company was awarded two contracts, although there were lower bidders on each one. TVA bought six dump trucks from the White company for $8,155 when there were the following lower bids:

Le Blonde-Schact, $7,081; Dempster Brothers, $7,275; General Motors, $7,710; Hug company, $7,711. Another White truck was bought for $2,435 when the International company had entered a lower bid.

Condemns 40 Minor Purchases.

The Bucyrus-Erie company sold TVA two electric shovels, one for $35,990 and the other for $35,745 when the Link Belt company had bid low on each of them.

The Fargo company was given a contract for three Dodge trucks at $1,095 each when its bid was seventh from low; other lower bids ranged from $773 to $966. Almost forty other minor purchases not made from the low bidder were noted by McCarl.

Turning to those contracts where apparently no competitive bids were called for at all, the audit reveals at least three major instances of such irregularity. Largest of all these was the indefinite cost-plus contract, estimated at $615,000, which was given to the Stone & Webster Engineering company.

No Evidence of Bid Soliciting.

No evidence was available at the Knoxville office showing that bids were solicited, but on the contrary, the contract was entered into with the Stone & Webster Engineering company on the basis of cost-plus 8 per cent, the estimated cost to amount to $615,000, the audit says. The contractor was to design, construct, or supervise the constructing of work in connection with electric and blast furnaces for phosphoric acid.

The contract provided that payment of the 3 per cent fee should be made by paying $20,000 in five monthly payments of $4,000 each, beginning Dec. 31,1933, the total compensation not to exceed $48,600.

The Stone and Webster company received $4,000 on Jan. 5, 1934, and like sums on Feb. 9, April 10, April 12, and May 11, 1934. When nothing more than nominal expense had been incurred, the Stone and Webster corporation had been paid $16,000 and shortly thereafter another $4,000, according to McCarl.

List Contract Fee at $8,682.

On April 30, 1934, an audit of Stone and Webster books by the TVA showed that the total cost of work done to that date was $108,536. On that basis, the contract fee at that period at the stipulated 8 per cent would have amounted to $8,682. As they had received at that time $16,000, there was an overpayment of $7,317 in cotravention of Section 3648 of the revised statutes, the report shows. The total paid the contractor to June 30, 1934, amounted to $39,586 for fees and other expenses, which was an overpayment of 83 per cent over the original estimates, it is pointed out.

"Contracts containing provisions obligating the United States to pay unlimited or indefinite amounts are not authorized," said McCarl, summing up his objections to the Stone-Webster deal.

"Exceptions were taken to the total amount paid for many reasons; because of objections to indefinite cost-plus contracts, violation of section 3648 revised statutes prohibiting advance payments, salaries paid unauthorized consultants, travel expenses and many other forms of expense items presumed to be covered by the fee, lack of performance bond, and a number of other irregular items."

ITALY DEMANDS ETHIOPIAN KING SPLIT UP NATION

Mussolini Drafts Terms of Peace.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 19.—Sir Eric Drummond, British ambassador in Rome, today informed the British government that Italy is willing to settle the Italo-Ethiopian dispute without further military measures providing Emperor Haile Selassie I of Ethiopia accepts the following formula:

FIRST—The integrity and independence of Ethiopia are to be respected.

SECOND—Ethiopia must accept a division of the country into three zones of influence. One-third of the country, the Anglo-Sudan frontier, would be in the British zone. It would include Lake Tsana, which is the source of the upper Blue Nile which flows into the Nile at Khartoum. Another third would be within the French zone of influence. It would cover the railway from Djibuti, French Somaliland, to Addis Ababa, capital of Ethiopia. The third zone, under Italian influence, would include all highlands, which are suitable for Italian immigration and which comprise the only fertile section of the country.

Abolishes Unequal Taxes.

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia, May 19.—(AP)—Emperor Haile Selassie was hailed by his people today as a great "emancipator" for a decree abolishing ancient and unequal taxes on 60 per cent of the land of the country, known as "gabbar land."

A fixed regular payment was substituted. The decree affects 4,000,000 persons and, in effect, would abolish serfdom.

Not only will the government's cash revenue be increased, but the move is expected to advance agriculture and stock raising, extend the people's liberties and increase the central government's authority in modernizing the ancient feudal status.

Theoretically all the lands of Ethiopia belong to the emperor. The emperors originally did not pay salaries to provincial governors and officials, but delegated to them the collection of taxes from "gabbar lands," representing 60 per cent of the land.

These lands were subjected to unequal taxes. "Gabbar" is the name of a special class of landowner, comparable somewhat to serfs, the difference being that the persons are not saiable and their attachment to land is not compulsory.

Certain "gabbars" are allotted to each official. The contribution of "gabbars" to the government was unequal and many were subjected to hardships, obstructing progress and hampering liberty.

Decree's Language Picturesque.

Ethiopians believe all this will be changed by the new decree. In the picturesque language of the decree the emperor said:

"Whereas, we have noted inequalities of taxes on gabbar lands, and considering the difficulties encountered in the purchase of honey for taxes, on account of the price or scarcity, and considering the hardships resulting from sundry orders to gabbars, besides the taxes on corvee; therefore, without prejudice to the interests of our government and people to permit gabbars to concentrate on their work, have ordained that gabbars be exempted from all corvee services, honey and other taxes, excepting tithes, and to pay instead 30 thalers per gasha annually."

A gasha is approximately 100 acres and a thaler equals 40 cents. The corvee is a sort of odd jobs employment.

FIRE WARDEN SPIES FOREST INCENDIARY FROM HIS AIRPLANE

Barnegat, N. J., May 20.—(AP)—From his airplane, Col. Leonidas Coyle, state fire warden, today spied a man starting a forest fire which swept an area of 12,000 acres and brought out a fire fighting force of 1,000 men.

The fire warden gave state police a description of the man and his automobile.

Col. Coyle and his pilot, Jack Thropp, risked their lives to land in a dirt road as near as possible to the point where they saw the suspect, but he had escaped.

NAZI TROOPERS IN NEW CLASHES WITH CATHOLICS

MUNICH, May 19.—(AP)—Minor clashes continued today between Nazi Storm Troopers and wearers of badges given for contributions to Catholic charities.

Many of the wearers refused to obey commands to remove the badges and hundreds were hustled to police stations, where their names were taken and they were released.

Police having forbidden street collectors for Catholic charity week, Cardinal Faulhaber caused an order to be read from the pulpits today that no money should be collected in the streets or by house to house calls.

WOMAN TO BE 103 WEDNESDAY; ADVISES WORK

Miss Margaret Gorman, 7440 Merrill avenue, who will be 103 years old next Wednesday and who lays claim to true happiness, can't think of a single thing she wants very much.

MISS MARGARET GORMAN.

Of course she would like to get back that money lost in recent years in real estate bonds, but only in order to be able to give it to some one.

"I don't worry about it," she said, in discussing her attitude toward life after 103 years of it, as she sat comfortably in the home of her nephew's widow, Mrs. William F. Gorman. "Nothing bothers me. How have I kept from worrying? Why, constant work, that is all."

She laughed when she told how her friends jokingly tell me she has lived so long because she was never married. "But I don't believe that," she said. "One friend used to tell me that any husband is better than none at all."

Miss Gorman reared a family of six children when her sister's death orphaned them. She was born in Ireland. For sixty years, she lived at 15th street and Racine avenue.

CITIES' BABIES' CHANCES BETTER THAN FARMERS'

Washington, D. C., May 19.—(AP)—The city baby has a better chance to reach the toddling age than the one down on the farm.

One time the reverse was true, the labor department's children bureau said today. For two recent years the town, however, infant has had the edge in his chance to be one year old. For 1932 and 1933 the death rate for city babies under one year was 57 per thousand. Country babies died at the rate of 58 per thousand in 1932 and 59 per thousand in 1933.

PREDICT RELIEF DEADLOCK WILL END THIS WEEK

Hopkins Bill Expected to Pass; Effective July 1.

Observers predicted yesterday that the Illinois general assembly would pass in modified form this week the Hopkins bill to increase the rate of the retailers' occupational [sales] tax from 2 per cent to 3 per cent. Enactment of this measure, these commentators said, would probably solve the crisis in Illinois relief.

By tomorrow, when the general assembly meets at Springfield to reconsider the Hopkins bill, officials estimate that 103,000 families in Cook county alone will have exhausted the rations given them in recent weeks. The Cook county board sold $1,200,000 in poor relief bonds to extend this assistance.

The refusal of Harry L. Hopkins, federal emergency relief administrator, to grant further government funds to Illinois until the state raises $3,000,000 a month for relief, has put the state's 1,200,000 idle in peril of acute suffering. Evidence grew yesterday that Hopkins would be willing to accept any 3 per cent sales tax act passed by the Illinois legislature, though several times he has refused to promise such approval.

County Board to Meet.

To meet the immediate needs, however, the Cook county board of commissioners will meet this morning to consider means of tempering the situation here until the state and federal governments settle their differences. Further relief bond sales are to be discussed.

The hope of an early settlement gained strength because of a statement on Saturday by Senator James Hamilton Lewis that he was "virtually assured" of Hopkins' acceptance of the 3 per cent sales tax measure in any form approved by the legislature.

Gov. Henry Horner, it was learned, has been deserted by his most important legislative advisers in his efforts to have the assembly pass the Hopkins bill with the emergency clause, which would make the tax increase operative at once. Last night the governor addressed a radio appeal to the entire state urging voters to exert pressure in behalf of the Hopkins bill upon the members of the house who have repeatedly rejected the measure. The administration has failed to poll the 102 votes (a two-thirds majority) required for immediate effectiveness.

See Passage for July 1 Operation.

An attempt to muster the required two-thirds majority again tomorrow may be made despite the objections of the governor's advisers, but it is considered more likely that the bill will be amended to exclude the emergency clause and then will be passed by a simple majority of 77. Under this procedure the law would become operative on July 1. Mayor Kelly will go to Springfield today to push the bill.

As originally passed by the senate the Hopkins bill followed the dictates of the federal relief administrator and would have increased the sales tax for a period from the time of its adoption to July 1, 1937. A companion measure would have levied the tax against public utilities.

The house last week adopted an amendment making the tax increase effective only to Feb. 1, 1936. Previously the house exempted from the levy public utility services extended to industrial consumers. It is now conceded that the adoption of the increase bill by a 77 vote, as now amended, would pave the way to passage of the companion public utility measure without the exemption amendment.

More Hurdles to Leap.

If passed by the house under these conditions, both measures would be submitted to the senate for concurrence on amendments and, before final adoption, to Hopkins for acceptance or rejection.

It has been asserted that the FERA would, upon passage of the Hopkins bill in the house, immediately release to the Illinois Emergency Relief commission funds with which to resume the distribution of relief. An estimated $20,000,000 would be required of the federal government to cover the 6 weeks' period before the Hopkins bill would become effective, enabling the state to pay the $3,000,000 a month demanded by the federal government.

With the crisis coming to a head this week as families exhaust the limited resources made available since the cessation of IERC activities May 1, individual communities moved to avert starvation. At Bloomington, the McLean county relief committee turned its work over to the townships which had $25,000 available for a week's emergency work.

ROYAL WEDDING THIS WEEK

SWEDEN BEGINS FESTIVE WEEK TO HONOR PRINCESS

Ingrid and Danish Prince to Marry Friday.

STOCKHOLM, May 19.—(AP)—Sweden, under the control of a Social Democrat government, although still a monarchy, witnessed today the beginning of a week of royal festivities to be climaxed Friday by the wedding of Princess Ingrid and Crown Prince Frederik of Denmark.

There was a public reception for the young couple followed by a dinner at the Belgian legation at which visiting King Leopold and Queen Astrid were hosts.

Gustav Loosens Purse.

A Danish newspaper estimated the expenses of King Gustav V. in seeing his granddaughter married at the equivalent of $60,000. Ingrid tomorrow will make her first appearance at the microphone to thank the people of Sweden for their presents and good wishes.

The arrival of Frederik this morning, ready to participate in numerous receptions, luncheons, and dinners, all leading up to the wedding ceremony itself, brought thousands of Stockholmers to the railway station.

Socialists Ignore Fuss.

While the Swedish Social Democrats, as individuals, have very little objection to all the fuss ad glamor of it all, the Socialist papers have given little space to announcement of wedding plans and the like. Liberal and Conservative papers, on the other hand, have missed not a single detail of the advance ceremonies.

CLIENT, 79 DIGS UP A JOB AND RESIGNS FROM RELIEF ROLLS

Danville, Ill., May 19.—(AP)—Charles W. Myers, overseer of the poor in Danville township, offered today this note he said came from a client, 79 years old, with a wife 74 years old, as an object lesson to younger seekers for aid. It read:

"C. W. Myers—Kind sir: Wish to notify your office I have started working. I have had only a few days' work so far, but think I will be able to get in more in the future. And I think I can get by all right without further relief. My appreciation of past favors is too great to be expressed in words."

Relief officials refused to reveal the name of the writer.

FEDERAL AGENTS JOIN IN WIDE SEARCH FOR MISSING N. Y. GIRL

New York, May 19.—(AP)—Federal agents, joining the search for Shirley Evans, 8, who disappeared Friday, tonight expressed fear for the child's safety.

They were working on the theory that she was murdered or kidnaped. Belief that she might have wandered away was abandoned after 48 hours of intensive searching by more than 50 detectives.

Federal agents did not believe the child might be held for ransom because of the moderate circumstances in which her family lived.

WALGREEN NIECE TO BE CALLED IN RADICALISM QUIZ

Members of the state senatorial committee investigating college radicalism will call Miss Lucille Norton, niece of Charles R. Walgreen, national drug store executive, as a witness when the hearings are resumed in the county building, probably next Friday morning, State Senator Richey V. Graham said yesterday.

The committee will meet in Springfield tomorrow in executive session to determine further procedure. At that time, Senator Graham said, he will ask that the committee issue a call for the Friday appearance of Miss Norton, who was withdrawn from her University of Chicago classes by Mr. Walgreen because of the "insidious propaganda" to which he felt she was subjected.

Miss Norton will be questioned concerning conversations quoted by Mr. Walgreen before the committee last Monday, in which she said that she had learned much of communism on the Midway. Prof. Frederick L. Schuman, named by Mr. Walgreen as having told a class that he "didn't object to 'free love' for himself," also will be called.

MASSEN TO ASK FEDERAL AID ON ELEVATED ROADS

Alderman Sees Work Done in New York.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 19.—[Special.]—Ald. John A. Massen [48th], chairman of the Chicago council traffic committee, declared here today that he will introduce a resolution before council next Wednesday directing Mayor Kelly to apply for federal funds for the construction of an elevated highway system in Chicago. The resolution also will authorize the mayor to prepare the necessary engineering plans and to set up a number of alternate financial schemes for the New Deal to pass upon.

"I am convinced from interviews with officials in the capital," said the alderman, "that by diligent effort, and only by diligent effort, Chicago can qualify some of the elevated highway sections for a share of the four billion dollar work relief program.

"New York's monumental traffic structures have impressed me that a $100,000,000 elevated highway system of 160 miles, or any part thereof is not too ambitious an undertaking for the second largest city in America."

Sees New York's Streets.

In New York he saw work under way with the assistance of federal funds on a 42 million dollar tri-borough bridge and a 90 million dollar midtown tunnel under the Hudson river. He rode over 15 million dollars' worth of Manhattan's elevated highways where plans are under way to spend 31 millions for extensions. He rode through the 46 million dollar Holland tunnel and the 19 million dollar Pulaski skyway to the Newark airport and he saw the 60 million dollar Washington Memorial bridge.

"New York's accomplishments and its future plans for major traffic facilities should be inspirational to Chicago," said the aldreman. "The 'I will' spirit should prevail regardless of whether the elevated highway pass the tests as federal work relief projects.

"It's no easy task to qualify the elevated jobs for 'easy money.' A primary consideration in obtaining this qualification is that the construction will employ men from the relief rolls promptly. On this point, it is easier to employ men to rake leaves, shovel snow, or resurface macadam streets.

Provides for Randolph Street.

"This test of promptitude in unemployment relief summarily dismisses consideration of any major surface street widening that would involve unavoidably prolonged condemnation proceedings. It does not bar elevated highway construction in existing public right of way, such as west in Randolph street to Union park, Northwest in Kinsbury street, and southwest in Archer avenue, provided the engineers rush specifications."

The state highway department has prepared a set of plans for the Randolph street section, estimated to cost $1,600,000, and Gov. Horner has directed the department to engineer the northwest job.

Hold Two Boys as Mailbox Thieves; Seek 3 of Gang

Police of the New City station held two young men yesterday as mail box thieves and sought three others as members of their gang. Herman Essentien, 17 years old, 6714 South Halsted street, and Edward Topel, 15, of 6652 South Halsted street, were reported to have confessed. They will be turned over to postal authorities today. Policemen Michael Dalton and John White, who arrested the youths, said they had been seeking the mail box looters for several months.

FREAK ACCIDENT KILLS MAN; TWO AUTOS INVOLVED

Hurled Under Wheels as Car Hits Lumber.

Walter Draftz, 65 years old, 5269 Elston avenue, was killed in a freak automobile accident at Elston and Lawler avenues yesterday morning. Draftz had picked up a long piece of lumber which fell from a passing car and was crossing the street with it under his arm when the end was struck by a car driven by Walter Kliecner, 29 years old, 2112 Powell avenue. Draftz was swung around and knocked into the path of another auto driven by Dr. Morris Goldberg, a dentist living at 6029 North Austin avenue.

Kliecner was held by the police when it was found the license plates borne by his car had been issued for another automobile.

County Death Toll Is 339.

Draftz's death and four others yesterday increased the 1935 trafic toll for Cook county to 339. Until 4 p. m. yesterday, 277 had been killed in automobile accidents within the Chicago city limits, and 5,700 injured.

The other deaths yesterday:

Herbert Lundgren, 24 years old, 438 North Stone avenue, La Grange. Fatally injured yesterday morning when his automobile collided with another at 47th street and Blackstone avenue, La Grange, Charles H. McDougal, 406 West Washington street, Hinsdale, driver of the other car, was not held.

Mrs. Bertha Estborn, 74 years old, 5025 Glenwood avenue. Died at the Ravenswood hospital yesterday of injuries incurred April 6 when she was struck by an automobile as she alighted from a street car at Clark street and Balmoral avenue. Walter Flossman, 49 years old, of Prairie View, Ill., had stopped his automobile beside the street car and backed the machine up to permit passengers to get off the front platform. He backed into Mrs. Estborn.

Anton Merchut, 46 years old, 2306 North Latrobe avenue. Killed instantly when he was struck by an automobile driven by Frank Coultry, 27 years old, 627 North Taylor avenue, Oak Park, at Fullerton and Lockwood avenues. The Cragin police held Coultry when witnesses said he was driving fast.

At the Henrotin hospital it was found that Mrs. Starbuck had a possible fracture of the skull while her husband was bruised and cut. James R. Beisecker, 41 years old, 519 South Villa avenue, Villa Park, driving the car, was questioned by the Chicago avenue police.

ROOSEVELT VETO TO MAP FUTURE MONEY POLICIES

Message to Go Beyond Issue of Bonus.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 19.—[Special.]—Far more than the veterans' bonus is involved in the veto message President Roosevelt will deliver to a joint session of the two houses of congress next Wednesday.

Of incalculable moment to the welfare of the country, of vital bearing on our efforts to recover prosperity and of prophetic import to world monetary stabilization will be the attitude the President assumes toward the present drift in the direction of inflation of our currency. The question uppermost in official Washington today is whether his message will serve to accelerate or to stem the inflation tide.

In a wholly unprecedented manner the President is going to dramatize his veto of the Patman 2 billion dollar greenback bonus bill with a solemnity, impressiveness, and monition designed to deter senators and representatives from voting to pass the bill notwithstanding the disapproval of the executive.

First President to Act.

Frequently a President has appeared before congress seeking legislation he wanted; never has a President gone to Capitol hill to stop legislation he did not want.

The White House secretariat has given it out on the authority of the President that the veto of the bonus will be as emphatic as Mr. Roosevelt knows how to make it. Compared with it, we are given to understand, President Cleveland's famous veto of civil war pension legislation will resemble nothing so much as milk and water. It is to combine courage with wisdom, according to the presidential advisers, and save the country from a plunge over the precipice of national disaster. Will it also rank Roosevelt with Cleveland as a defender of sound money?

Inasmuch as the Democrats constitute two-thirds of each house and are thus overwhelmingly responsible for the character of legislation, the veto by the President will be preeminently a rebuke to his own party, a majority of which in both houses voted for the greenback bonus bill. Emphasized and dramatized by the appearance of the President before congress, the veto will place in an exceedingly embarrassing position those Democrats who have been intending to vote to pass the bill over the rejection of the measure by their President and party leader.

Expect Bigger Margin Now.

Before the President announced the intention of staging a dramatic veto it appeared that the veto, while expected to be overriden in the house, would be sustained by a few votes in the senate. That it will be so sustained, and by a greater margin, now appears probable. Certainly the overriding of the veto under the circumstances would constitute the most sensational repudiation of a President by his own party in history.

It is not doubted that the message will reiterate the President's previous arguments that the veterans are not entitled to payment of the bonus before 1945, that veterans in want are being cared for by the relief administration and that the financing of a 2 billion 200 million dollar expenditure by the federal government at this time would place a dangerous strain upon the national credit. But what everybody is really wondering is what the President will have to say about the danger of inflation of the currency inhering in the provision that the bonus shall be paid with noninterest bearing notes devoid of any backing in gold or silver, notes that are commonly called greenbacks, or "printing press money."

Several Courses Possible.

The attitude of the President on this question may well make or break the inflation movement. If Mr. Roosevelt condemns inflation no less strongly than the prepayment of the bonus he will deliver a staggering blow to the inflationists. If he sings loud against the bonus but low again inflation the veterans will lose but the inflationists will win a signal victory. They would find themselves only momentarily halted by the failure of the Patman bonus bill and would be encouraged by the President's attitude to push through alternative legislation for more and cheaper money, unsecured by specie.

To the inflationists the bonus bill was merely an attractive vehicle for carrying into effect their paper money program. Thus in the larger view of the future welfare of the nation that is inseparable from a stable monetary system the bonus sinks into insignificance. When the President goes to the capitol to veto the bonus it will be in reality to deal with a crisis in our monetary system. By his capacity to meet that crisis, far more than by his courage in rejecting the bonus, will his statesmanship be judged.

Inflationists a Majority.

That there is a crisis is apparent from the fact that the inflationists are in the majority in both houses of congress.

Ever since the Patman greenback bill was passed overwhelmingly by the senate, as well as the house, forebodings of inflation have been omnipresent among all thoughtful people. Everybody has been wondering whether we are on the threshold of an experiment in the issuance of printing press money to pay the expenses of the government, an experiment so dangerous that hardly any nation has been able to indulge in it without disaster.

So many people are convinced that inflation is at hand that a flight from the dollar, according to orthodox economists, already is in evidence. The rise in the stock market in the last week is attributed in part, at least, to the fear of inflation which is causing investors to hedge against a possible depreciation of the currency.

Committed to Price Rise.

The President is committed to the philosophy of raising prices to restore prosperity, and his monetary policy has been productive of considerable indirect inflation. But direct, outright inflation of the currency he has so far resisted, although clothed with power to issue 3 billions of greenbacks by the Thomas amendment. If he undertakes, in his bonus veto, to scotch the inflation movement he doubtless will answer the question which the inflationists are asking more and more pointedly.

That question is why the government should continue to issue interest bearing bonds to finance its expenditures when it might easily pay its bills in non-interest-bearing currency struck off the presses at will. The answer, according to the orthodox economists, is that bonds and the specie backing of paper money constitute the brakes on the monetary machine. Take the brakes off and the machine is likely to run wild, with consequent loss of confidence in the value of the money issued.

Germany Horrible Example.

How post-war Germany took the brakes off and came to disaster, with bread costing 100 million dollars a loaf and the savings of the population wiped out, is the warning oftenest on the lips of the anti-inflationists. Read history, say the anti-inflationists; read Andrew D. White's brochure of 1876 on "Fiat Money Inflation in France," recently reprinted by the D. Appleton-Century company.

According to the anti-inflationists, the situation in this country today parallels the beginning of inflation in the French nation of 1789.

"There was a general search," says Dr. White's account, "for some short road to prosperity; ere long the idea was set afloat that the great want of the country was more of the circulating medium, and this was speedily followed by calls for an issue of paper money." Orators "proclaimed it a panacea"—a way of "obtaining resources without paying interest," as Senator William G. McAdoo [Dem., Cal.] argued in support of the Patman bill the other day in the senate. Bergasse, a deputy from Lyons, prophesied the evils to follow with "miraculous foresight," in terms not unlike the warnings recently uttered by Senator Carter Glass [Dem., Va.].

BOARD PRAISES NAVY ACADEMY FOR WORK, DISCIPLINE OF YOUTHS

Annapolis, Md., May 19.—(AP)—Discipline and morale at the United States Naval academy received high praise in the report of the board of visitors.

"As far as the general morale of the academy is concerned it is possible to speak only in the highest terms," said the report of the board headed by Dr. K. C. M. Sills, president of Bowdoin college.

The visitors recommended enlargement of the present plant and facilities, assignment of additional officer and civilian teachers, exchange of teachers and retirement for the civilian teaching staf. More teaching of economics was urged.

The report said:

"The system of discipline in vogue is to be highly commended as it seems in every way to develop manliness and a sense of responsibility. The spirit of fairness and justice prevails throughout the institution."

The board inspected the academy from April 29 to May 2. It suggested board membership be made permanent with provision for rotation and continuity of service. The President, Vice President, and speaker of the house appoint the members.

GAMBLING JOINT IN TESSVILLE SHUTS ITS DOORS

The Hide Away, an expensively appointed gambling joint that was running unmolested Saturday at Lincoln and Devon avenues, Tessville, was closed yesterday. Would-be patrons who drove up to the place were informed by a man at the door that it was hoped the place would be reopened in a few days. Statements of Lieut. Lester Laird, in charge of the county highway police north and northwest of Chicago, indicated that this hope was in vain.

"No gambling places are going to operate in this territory," he said. "I was transferred here only last week and I knew nothing of the Hide Away. The order is to close such resorts and they are going to be closed."

FRIENDS BOOST ALFRED E. SMITH FOR PRESIDENCY

Republican Nomination May Be Sought.

New York, May 19.—[Special.]—The boom for Alfred E. Smith for President is gaining headway, Charles C. Hellinger, chairman of the Smith-for-President committee, declared today. Mr. Hellinger announced that the committee would open headquarters this summer and start an intensive campaign to sell Mr. Smith to the voters of the nation as the one man in sight who can stimulate recovery and lift the country out of the depression.

The movement headed by Mr. Hellinger is nonpartisan. Coincidentally, a movement has started among Republicans to promote the candidacy of Mr. Smith for the Republican nomination. This Republican movement so far has gained support mostly among business men and financiers and has made little progress among party leaders.

Difficulty Is Expected.

Sponsors of the latter movement admit that it may be difficult to get the Republican national convention to nominate Mr. Smith, a lifelong Democrat, but express belief that growing opposition of conservatives to the spending policies of the Roosevelt administration, the lowering of the value of the dollar, and the prospective increase in taxation may bring about a situation where a fusion nomination against the President will offer the best change of defeating him.

Incidentally, there also has been talk in Republican circles of the possibility of the nomination of Lewis W. Douglas of Arizona, former federal budget director, who resigned that post because of disagreement with the President. The suggestion of Mr. Douglas is reported to have met with favor in other parts of the country, but the majority sentiment of eastern Republicans who favor the nomination of a Democrat for President on the Republican ticket is believed to be for Mr. Smith.

Membership Is Growing.

Mr. Hellinger said his committee would center on building up sentiment for Mr. Smith for President without reference to his nomination by either major party and that both Democrats and Republicans were being asked to enroll as Smith supporters. Membership of the organization has increased within the last month from about 6,000 to 14,300, he said. This membership is composed entirely of business and professional men, he added, and no attempt has been made to enroll masses of voters. Much of the enrollment has been voluntary and thousands of letters supporting the movement have been received by the committee.

While Mr. Smith has not assented to the launching of a presidential boom for him as an anti-Roosevelt candidate, neither has he discouraged the movement.

Fears New Deal Frankenstein.

Washington, D. C., May 19.—(AP)—Representative Chester C. Bolton, Ohio Republican, tonight said "a growing number of us" fear the "new ship of state" being constructed by New Dealers may prove "a Frankenstein that will destroy our system of government."

The co-chairman of the Republican senatorial and congressional campaign committee declared "the New Dealers are building something undoubtedly," but that many felt "the monster will not turn out to be a new and more trustworthy ship of state."

Bolton charged that a "false type of Democratic government — the bureocratic type — was created to take care of an emergency" and contended it was "high time that it should demonstrate its worth."

To Celebrate Jubilee

[Du Bois Photo.]

The Most Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, auxiliary bishop of Chicago, will celebrate his silver sacerdotal jubilee at a mass in the Holy Name cathedral tomorrow morning. Bishop Sheil was ordained a priest at Holy Name on May 21, 1910.

The sacerdotal jubilee will be celebrated in the presence of Cardinal Mundelein and other dignitaries of the diocese. As one of the founders of the Catholic Youth organization and a sponsor of athletic contests, Bishop Sheil is widely known.

Bishop Sheil was consecrated on May 1, 1928 and was made spiritual director and head of the archdiocesan union of the Holy Name society, from which sprung the city-wide C. Y. O. He is also active in the work of the Council of Catholic Women, the Holy Name society, the Legion of Decency, the Chicago Student Catholic Action program and other similar groups.

ARMY CONCEALS DETAILS ABOUT FIGHTING PLANE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 19.—[Special.]—A mystery fighting plane, years ahead of anything now in the air, just has been completed by the general headquarters air force, it was learned today. Utmost secrecy has guarded every detail of the construction and development of the craft.

The war department today grudgingly admitted the plane has been built.

Although the war department revealed it has a new and important air development, all information about the craft and its performance was withheld.

The plane is reported to embody principles in design and theory far in advance of the times. The performance of the ship is said to be startling. It already has been put through preliminary tests and is soon to undergo more exacting tests.

The plane was built at the Curtiss Aeroplane and Motor company plant at Buffalo, N. Y.

More informed officers believe it possible air staf has developed a plane with a cruising radius of from 6,000 to 8,000 miles. It is known that army engineers have bent their efforts toward such a goal.

Britain Begins Probe Today in Sinking of Four Ships

LONDON, May 19.—(AP)—An investigation into the loss of four British steamers in nine months, at a cost of 100 lives, will be opened tomorrow. The investigation was ordered by the board of trade. The four ships are the Millpool, lost in the Atlantic with all hands last October; the Usworth, which sank in December; the La Crescenta, which went down with all hands in the Pacific in January, and the Blairgowrie, lost with all hands in February.

ECONOMIST ASKS CHINA TO BOYCOTT AMERICAN GOODS

U. S. Silver Purchasing Policy Assailed.

NANKING, China, May 19.—(AP)—A Chinese boycott against American goods was urged today by Dr. Yin-chu Ma, leading Chinese economist, as the most effective means of combating the American silver purchasing policy.

Further protests against the American policy are futile, Dr. Ma said. He expressed himself as strongly opposed to an inflationary policy in China, which "would cause serious confusion" in the Chinese monetary situation.

Sees Injury to China.

Dr. Ma takes the view that a rise in silver values will affect Japan as seriously as it will China.

"A boost in silver prices," he asserted, "will inevitably increase the cost of manufacturing Japanese goods, for Japan is dependent on China for a considerable amount of its raw materials. This will make it more and more difficult for Japanese goods to compete with American products on the world Markets."

One of the objctives of the American silver purchasing policy, as seen by Dr. Ma, is the accumulation of as much gold and silver bullion in the United States as possible.

Urges "Buy Chinese" Drive.

In the event of an international conflict, the financial expert said, the country with the largest reserve of metallic currency would be in a position to hold out the longest.

China's only recourse, Dr. Ma insisted, is to pursue vigorously a "buy Chinese" movement, which automatically would reduce China's dependence on imports from the United States.

DAMP WISCONSIN 3D PARTY HOPES OF SPREAD IN 1936

Fond du Lac, Wis., May 19.—[Special.]—The radical third party created in Wisconsin a year ago today under La Follette leadership is not yet sufficiently entrenched for national expansion, Gov. Philip F. La Follette declared here today at a birthday celebration for the "Progressive party."

Before the party can expect to be a significant force in national politics, its principles must be fostered and developed in other states, he asserted. Until that has been accomplished the Wisconsin third party cannot hope to secure support sufficient to be a national threat to either the Republican or Democratic groups.

Gov. La Follette proposed that Wisconsin Progressives unite with similar radicals of other states in an effort to aid them in entering public office. In this manner the third party and its principles eventually will become a force in the nation and then will be ready to compete in national elections, he pointed out.

Jolson Baby Is Improved After Blood Transfusion

Hollywood, Cal., May 19.—(AP)—A transfusion of 100 cubic centimeters of blood was given today to Albert Jolson Jr., newly adopted infant son of Al Jolson and Ruby Keeler of the films, following which Dr. J. Edwin Scobee said the child was in "pretty good shape." The baby is in the children's hospital because of an inner ear disorder that developed last week after Miss Keeler brought him here from Chicago, where the film couple had adopted him.

LIBERTY LEAGUE SEES DANGER IN BANKHEAD FARM TENANT BILL

Washington, D. C., May 19.—(AP)—A "Russianization" of American agriculture into "a government sustained peasantry" was viewed by the American Liberty league today as a "probable" result of enactment of the Bankhead farm tenant bill.

The measure, by Senator John H. Bankhead [Dem., Ala.] proposes a billion dollar corporation to assist tenant farmers and other agricultural workers in financing purchase of family size farms.

Terming this "a step toward socialization of agriculture," the league contended many tenants and share croppers were not trained to manage farms and that, unless the government used harsh measures, these farmers soon would be living on "public bounty."

Another danger it saw in the proposal was given in these words:

"It is inevitable that political favoritism, if not outright scandal, would follow where large tracts of land, representing a liability rather than an asset to the owners under existing agricultural conditions, might be unloaded on the government at excessive prices.

"There would be a temptation to locate land settlements at points where they would be most effective in influencing elections. . . . There would be opportunity for all sorts of petty as well as major graft in the handling of so large a fund."

SEARCH FOR 20 DEAD, MISSING IN FLOOD AREA

Burkburnett, Tex., May 19.—(AP)—Texas and Oklahoma counted a toll of 20 persons dead or missing in floods and windstorms today as rain swollen streams continued to pound the countryside.

Four unidentified persons in a motor car were plunged into raging Red river here when an interstate bridge collapsed last night, capping a series of fatalities. This area had been in the drouth area for many months.

Nine persons were killed in tornadoes that roared over north and central Texas yesterday. The total of known dead in Oklahoma reached three with the discovery today of the body of Mrs. Claude Gowens, 70, lodged in brush near Olustee. Search was going on for four other persons believed to have been drowned in flooding Turkey creek.

Damage to homes, live stock, crops, railroads, highways and bridges in the two states was estimated unofficially at around $3,000,000.

Death of Oscar Gilbert, crushed in the wreckage of his home at Belott, Houston county, brought the Texas tornado fatality total to nine. Four other persons trapped in their homes at Weches were near death.

At least 70 other persons were treated for injuries received in freakish windstorms at Teague, Weches, Belott, Cadmor, Hearne, Oakwood, Turlington, Gilmer, and Timpson.

Sunny skies along the route of Red river, which is the main Oklahoma-Texas boundary line quieted fears of more rain today and concern over floods was restricted to the movement of crests and accumulation from tributaries.

Nazis Expel Swiss Writer; Stories Offended Officials

BERLIN, May 18.—(AP)—Eduard Behrens, Berlin correspondent for the National Zeitung of Basel, Switzerland, was summarily ordered today to leave Germany within twenty-four hours because his writings displeased Nazi authorities. His expulsion had been decided upon months ago, but through the intervention of the Foreign Press association he was granted a respite. However, his reporting continued to offend officials.

FIRST SKY TRAIN ROUND TRIP TO HAVANA SUCCESS

Miami, Fla., May 19.—(AP)—The first international round trip flight of a sky train ended here today with the return from Havana of two gliders and a tow plane after a four day visit to the Cuban capital.

Leaving Havana at 9:05 a. m. [eastern standard time] and breaking the 250 mile flight to Miami with a two hour and five minute stop at Key West for customs entrance, the sky train landed here at 3 p. m.

The two gliders were piloted by E. Paul du Pont of Wilmington, Del., and Jack O'Mera of New York, who some months ago made similar glider flights from New York to Washington and Baltimore.

Edward Kein of New York, pilot of the plane landed first, followed by the two gliders.

HITLER OPENS 1ST STRETCH OF 4,400 MILE AUTO ROAD

Goebbels Declares Soldiers Protect Workers.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, May 19.—"Alongside every German worker with a shouldered spade now stands a soldier with a shouldered rifle, ready to protect the achievements of the workers who today see with proud satisfaction that their work is no longer at the mercy of the world."

These words were delivered today at Frankfort-on-the-Main by Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, minister of propaganda, at the inauguration of the first stretch of the reich's new 4,400 mile network of automobile roads.

"While other nations were only creating armies with weapons we created armies with spades," Goebbels said. "We did not go whining and begging the world for alms. We helped ourselves. Our only wish is that the world leaves us in peace at our work.

Says Germans Want No War.

"The German people do not want war. They have enough internal problems to solve. Our army was not created for war, but as a guarantee for peace."

The propaganda minister concluded with the words:

"The fuehrer watches over all," he concluded.

Reichfuehrer Adolf Hitler acknowledged the welcome of Dr. Fritz Todt, general inspector of roads, in two sentences. The fuehrer, who conceived the roadways while he was in prison twelve years ago, thanked the 250,000 workers engaged on the road system and told them he regarded their work as an example of Germany's desire for peace.

Hitler's Car Cuts Ribbon.

A ribbon across the road was cut by Hitler's car which headed an enormous procession including 175 trucks carrying 4,000 road workers over the fifteen mile stretch to Darmstadt. Eighteen thousand Storm Troopers lined the route while 500,000 persons gathered at the roadside to cheer Hitler.

Two hundred and fifty miles of the "Adolf Hitler roads," as the network is known, will be completed this year.

Hitler Speaks Tomorrow.

BERLIN, May 19.—(AP)—One man alone—Adolf Hitler himself—harbored today the secret of the message he will deliver next Tuesday to the reichstag. Foreign office representatives professed to know, however, that the realm leader's speech would cause no sensation.

"We simply don't understand why all the world is riveting its attention on next Tuesday," said a high official. "A public speech certainly isn't the place for advancing fundamental proposals."

The consensus was that Hitler would at any rate amplify Germany's protest April 20 against Geneva criticism of German rearmament and would berate the Russo-French military convention.

TURKISH CABINET O.K.'S CHILD ARMY TRAINING SCHEME

ANKARA, Turkey, May 18.—(AP)—The cabinet approved a plan today for compulsory premilitary training for more than 500,000 Turkish children of both sexes.

Thus the government follows the lead set by Premier Mussolini of Italy with his "child army."

Practical training will be given boys and girls who still have not reached their teens under a program drafted by the army general staf. The cabinet also greatly increased the number of reserve officers.

Family of 5 on Long Walk Finds Friend and Breakfast

R. H. Scoville and his wife, Maude, became tired of living on relief and seven weeks ago left their home in Denver and started east afoot. With them were their three children, Darlene, 2 months old; Ruth, 7 years old, and Reta, 5. They were headed for Watkins Glen, N. Y., where Scoville hoped to find some of the estate left by his grandmother who died many years ago. Yesterday morning found the group on Sheridan road, north of Waukegan, at an hour when John Wilson, 1320 Sheridan road, Lake Forest, was returning from a fishing trip. Wilson stopped, heard their story, put them all in his car and took them to his home for breakfast. Then the migrants again started on their way.

LUDENDORFF RETIRES TO HUNTING LODGE A DISILLUSIONED MAN

BERLIN.—May 19.—(AP)—Disappointed and disillusioned, Gen. Erich Ludendorff wrote Berlin friends today he would retire for the summer to a little hunting lodge in the Bavarian mountains.

ERICH LUDENDORFF.
[Acme Photo.]

The world war hero, who was forgotten in the early years of the Nazi régime only to be hailed again recently, is said to feel the Nazis merely used him as a show piece on the occasion of his 70th birthday and soon again will forget him.

For a while it was believed Gen. Ludendorff would return to active service.

On the occasion of the general's birthday honors of every description were heaped upon him. And yet, somehow, things went wrong. The first discordant note was sounded when Ludendorff decined to accept the title of field marshal general. Some explained his refusal on the grounds of pride; Ludendorff supposedly considered himself too good to take such a title from the hands of Adolf Hitler, former corporal.

A military parade was arranged in Ludendorff's honor, but as far as the crowds were concerned these appeared chiefly to be men and women who look upon Ludendorff and his wife as the founders of a new Germanic religion. In an interview Ludendorff, moreover, expressed pride at being not only non-Christian but positively anti-Christian. This proved embarrassing to the government.

ROSENWALD FUND VOTES $284,000 OUTLAY FOR YEAR

Trustees of the Julius Rosenwald fund voted yesterday an appropriation of $284,000 to be expended in the fiscal year beginning July 1 for welfare work and rural education among colored persons, and for furthering socialized medicine. Edwin R. Embree, president of the fund, said that the Rosenwald effort to place competent medical service and hospitalization within the reach of persons of moderate means paralleled the program of the medical profession. He quoted Dr. Michael M. Davis of the fund's medical division as reporting that 344 plans to cut the cost of medical care, or to make it easier for the average family to pay for it, had come to his office in the last year. Certain of these projects, he said, had been endorsed in principle by the American College of Surgeons.

FRENCH PATRIOTS FIGHT REDS ON JOAN OF ARC DAY

Two Clashes Mark Rites for Maid of Orleans.

PARIS, May 20.—(AP)—Two clashes in the provinces between rightists and leftists marked France's nation-wide celebration today of Joan of Arc day.

Nationalist marchers clashed with police at Lyons when they paraded in protest against an attack by a political enemy on a flag bearer. A policeman, two demonstrators and a passer-by were slightly hurt.

Communist and "patriotic youths" came to blows at Nantes, where Socialist city officials refrained from joining in the ceremonies, but no one was seriously injured.

15,000 Troops Parade.

Thousands of marching Frenchmen paid tribute to the Maid of Orleans while leftists united to commemorate a firing squad's execution of insurgent Parisians of the 1871 commune.

Nationalist organizations of Paris paraded with 15,000 army troops in the morning before the flower-hung statue of St. Joan, whose martyrdom at the stake was observed as a national religious holiday. Thousands of schoolgirls added tiny bouquets to the flowers heaped up before the statue.

Two hundred thousand Socialists, communists and other leftists marched under a stream of red flags to the wall of Pere La Chaise cemetery, where the 1871 executions took place.

3,000 Police at Cemetery.

Uniformed political "troops" marched in both processions. Neither troubled the other, although the leftists moved up their annual tribute to the "martyrs" from May 26 to coincide with the Joan of Arc holiday.

More than 3,000 mobile guards and police massed at the cemetery while the Socialists and communists, many from the provinces, heaped red flowers at the wall.

Twenty white haired veterans of the commune reviewed the marchers, who sang revolutionary songs, saluted the wall with clenched fists and shouted "Soviets everywhere," "Down with war and Fascism!"

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Up Pop the Plantlets.

May 19, 1935.

GREEN rows are beginning to show up in the new test plots where rare and exotic crops will be grown at The Tribune Experimental farm near Wheaton. Flaxseed of the J. W. S. and Bison varieties, planted less than two weeks ago, are up. All three of the lespedeza varieties or strains—Corean [Korean], Harbin, and Sericea—are through the ground. They were planted on May 8.

Rains last week helped germinate the seeds already in the ground, but delayed the planting of other crops. This week, if the weather is favorable, men working at the plots expect to plant corn, soy beans, hops, sugar cane, and pyrethrum. Rice and hemp seed will be planted the last of this week or the first of next.

Newly sown oats are in excellent condition. The plants are about 4 inches high. They are of that rich green color that "tickles" a farmer when he goes out to examine the crop. Seventy-five acres of oats are being grown at the Wheaton farm this season.

Sericea lespedeza, which is being tested on a field basis at the Wheaton farm, has been slow to come through the ground. The plants began to come through the ground the latter part of last week. They are about a week later than the other two varieties of lespedeza—Corean and Harbin—all sown on the same day.

Apple trees at the Wheaton farm are now in full bloom. They are loaded with the heaviest crop of blossoms seen on the trees in many years, according to the farm manager. The apple trees will be sprayed again this week with a mixture of lime sulphur and arsenate of lead to protect them from pests. The spray mixture will be put on just as the bloom starts to drop.

There may be a slim cherry crop. The blossoms are thinly scattered over the trees.

Men at the farm expect a good sized crop of apples and pears. The pear trees already have dropped their blossoms.

Carl Henderson, farm manager, is continuing his work of preparing for The Tribune horse and mule pulling contest to be held at the experimental farm near Wheaton on June 15. A set of scales has been installed to weigh the horses entered in the contest. Every team will be scaled shortly before it is hitched to the dynamometer, which is the apparatus used in measuring the pulling power of the horses and mules.

The contest course in one of the big meadows at the farm has been rolled four times. The grass already covers the ground in a thick turf, showing the effect of the fertilizing material applied several weeks ago. The course and the natural amphitheater on the hillside leading down to the contest grounds will be covered with a thick growth of grass before competition.

Last week John Rawlings finished smoking the hams cured in "Virginia style." They have been smeared with black pepper, placed in cloth sacks dipped in whitewash, and hung in the smokehouse.

SHIPYARD MEN ISSUE GENERAL STRIKE THREAT

Camden, N. J., May 19.—(AP)—Threat of a general strike of shipyard workers spread from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast today. The general executive board of the Industrial union of marine and shipbuilding workers met to survey the situation.

"Word from San Francisco indicates that the three west coast locals will be ready to support a movement for a general tie-up if a general strike call is issued," Philip Van Gelder, national executive secretary of the union, said in a statement after the board meeting.

The Pacific coast unions—including 2,000 men at Seattle, San Pedro, and San Francisco—will follow the same procedure as the Atlantic coast employés in deciding on the strike, Van Gelder said. There is a strike of 4,600 employés of the New York Shipbuilding company here. There are union locals at Bath, Me.; Quincy, Mass.; New London, Conn.; Newport News, Chester, and Wilmington.

Berry Crops Are Threatened.

Seattle, Wash., May 19.—(AP)—Farmers of the northwest today entered the Pacific coast strike situation, in which walkouts of lumber workers and union tank ship crews are causing chief concern.

At Tacoma, Wash., and in Washington county, Oregon, farmers declared their berry crops would be lost unless they can obtain boxes and crates in which to get them to market.

More than 35,000 lumber workers remained out, although 10 retail establishments at Tacoma, Wash., were permitted to open to meet the farmers' needs.

SHIPPING STRIKE ENDS IN FRANCE; 2,000 BACK ON JOB

LE HAVRE, France, May 19.—(AP)—A seamen's strike which had threatened to delay the maiden voyage to America of the French line's mammoth new Normandie on May 29 ended today.

The liner Champlain, whose crew quit May 15, beginning a walkout which spread quickly to the Normandie, sailed tonight for New York, with 22 passengers and 500 tons of freight. It was delayed five days during which stranded passengers and cargo were transferred to ships of other lines.

Two thousand seamen, in a boisterous meeting in a water front hall, agreed to return to their jobs after William Bertrand, minister of marine, promised that 50 per cent of the French line's marine workers would get salaries throughout the year instead of being paid on a trip basis.

For the first time in five days Le Havre streets were almost deserted as crews of the Normandie and the Champlain returned to work.

ROPE BREAKS, 4 STORY FALL KILLS GIRL, 15

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 19.—(AP)—It was 2:30 this morning when Isabella Kruse, 15, got home from the party and found the door locked.

She had no key and she did not want to awaken her dad, Louis, because it was pretty late for 15 year old young ladies to be coming home.

She went down into the courtyard and got a piece of clothes line and climbed to the roof, where she fastened the line to the chimney. She planned to climb down the rope to the window of their apartment, on the top floor of the four story building.

Silently she slipped over the edge of the roof, clinging to the rope with strong, confident fingers. Her feet felt for the window ledge. She could not find it.

Slowly, panicky now, she lowered herself to the end of the rope. It was too short. The window ledge was many inches beyond.

She swung there, her feet straining desperately for the ledge.

Inside, sleeping, was her father.

The rope, strained by the jerking, desperate girl, snapped. She crashed on the courtyard four stories below, and when they took her to a hospital it was found that the girl, her simple party dress rumpled, torn, and covered with blood, was dead.

FIND SHOWMAN DEAD IN AUTO; ROBBERY VICTIM

William B. Evans, 47 years old, 6420 Blackstone avenue, widely known showman and a charter member of the Showmen's League of America, was found dead behind the wheel of his automobile yesterday morning at the rear of 4016 South Michigan avenue. His pockets were found to have been turned inside out and the police believe he suffered a heart attack after he had been robbed.

Mr. Evans was one of the owners of the Wonderland museum, 462 South State street. For ten years he operated the freak animal show at Coney Island. He came to this city seven years ago and had had shows at Riverview park and White City. He had traveled with shows in nearly every country in the world.

Mr. Smith pointed out that $193,842 was used to retire 1933 tax anticipation warants. Uncollected taxes due the district are placed at $1,318,668.

ELECTRIC STRIKE BRINGS CALL FOR CITY OWNERSHIP

Centralia, Ill., May 19.—(AP)—With utility service to about fifty southern Illinois towns disrupted by a prolonged strike of Illinois Power and Light company employés, officials of cities in the stricken area today prepared to launch campaigns for city ownership.

Talk of city owned gas plants here was first heard several days ago. Mayor George Remnsnider of Belleville last week advocated city owned utilities in that town. Edwardsville officials revealed last night that plans for city operated plants had been presented to the legal department there.

City executives from many affected communities will meet in Belleville Wednesday to outline city ownership plans in an effort to break the strike that has paralyzed industry in the region.

Meantime Gov. Horner's attempts to settle the trouble awaited the outcome of conversations between Electrical Brotherhood union officials and officers of the power company. About fifty towns, some without gas and others handicapped by the lack of light and power, awaited developments.

FEDERAL COUPONS GIVEN

BRITAIN, ARABIA MOURN DEATH OF COL. LAWRENCE

Simple Rites Tomorrow to Follow Request.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 19.—Col. Thomas Edwasd Lawrence—the hermitlike "Lawrence of Arabia"—will be buried simply at Moreton, Dorsetshire, Tuesday.

Lawrence, who with Emir Feisal [late king of Iraq] united Arab tribesmen and led them in a revolt against the Turks during the world war, died this morning in Bovington camp military hospital, near Wool, Dorsetshire, from injuries received in a motorcycle crash last Monday. The 46 year old scholar, soldier and author never regained consciousness and administrations of oxygen and adrenalin last night were futile.

"In accordance with his own wishes and those of his family it is desired that no flowers be sent and that only a few intimate friends attend the funeral, which will be simple," said a note written today by a brother, A. W. Lawrence.

Mother Learns of Death.

Lawrence's 73 year old mother, who has been traveling in China and out of touch with communications, cabled today asking for news of her son. Relatives sent a message informing her of his death.

Examination of Lawrence's body today revealed the crash had irreparably damaged his brain and had he lived he would have regained only part of his faculties of speech, sight, and walking.

The brother also issued a statement to dispose of rumors that Lawrence was fatally injured by assassins because of important war secrets held by him.

"He was not connected with any government work," the brother said, and called the rumors "utter nonsense."

Ata Amin, chargé d'affaires at the Iraq legation in London, said: "The Arab nation lost a great friend. Lawrence did his utmost in striving for the independence of our nation. He was the champion of the Arabs' cause, not only during the war, but afterward at the peace conference."

Experimented for Air Force.

Lawrence's close friend, Winston Churchill, spoke the sentiment of many public leaders:

"In Col. Lawrence we have lost one of the greatest beings of our time. I had hoped to see him emerge from his retirement to take a commanding part in facing the dangers which now threaten the country."

Sir Philip Sassoon, war hero and later under secretary for air, said: "His death means not only a great loss to literature but also to the Royal Air Force, for which he did so much." He had done much experimental work before it was learned that "Aircraftsman Shaw" was Lawrence.

In 1927 he had his name legally changed to T. E. Shaw in order to escape public notice. In that year he wrote from India to his friend, Col. Ralph Isham of New York:

"This is my fifteenth year abroad, but I had to ask the air force to put me on foreign service, for the publicity unavoidable in connection with 'Revolt in the Desert' would have rendered my life intolerable and my presence a cursed nuisance to my commanding officer in any camp in England."

Feared New Trouble in East.

On Col. Isham's recent visit to London Lawrence had spoken to him of a fear that the Italo-Ethiopian trouble might precipitate a great religious war. Isham also revealed that Lawrence once had said: "I look upon what I did in Arabia as morally indefensible, and I only ask to be forgotten by my friends."

Besides "The Seven Pillars of Wisdom," Lawrence's privately circulated story of the Arabian campaign, and "Revolt in the Desert" which was published to pay expenses of the first work, Lawrence in 1932 published a new translation of the Odyssey.

"The Newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and lead public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."—Chicago Tribune.

PRIVILEGES AND DUTIES OF THE PRESS.

A New York judge has sentenced a newspaper reporter to jail because he refused to disclose to a grand jury the names of persons from whom he got information on the policy gambling racket. The reporter pleaded, unsuccessfully, a right to protect professional confidences.

The practice of claiming professional confidence is too widespread already. It should be restricted rather than extended. Under this plea criminal lawyers hide a virtual demand that they be permitted to compound felonies. The lawyer has legal protection against disclosing a confession of a crime made to him by a client. From this it is a short step to the lawyer criminal who advises another criminal in advance of the crime, and when the conspiracy is uncovered by some misadventure seeks protection from prosecution under the same cloak.

Priests and ministers claim privilege respecting the confidences of their communicants. In this case political expediency rather than law probably has been responsible for their exemption from testifying. Application of punitive sanctions has as its prime purpose not the punishment of the recalcitrant witness but the extraction of his information. Fortified by the conviction that silence is his sacred duty, the religious confessor will submit to punishment rather than testify, so his punishment has the double disadvantage of being ineffective and unpopular.

The language of Judge Morris Koenig in the present New York case calls attention to the fact that, except for the requirement that they report gunshot wounds to police, New York law gives physicians the same protection against divulging confidences of their patients which it extends to lawyers. A gang legislature has made it possible for gang doctors to receive and protect the secrets of criminals. A license to practice medicine in New York includes a license to compound felonies by concealing evidence of crime.

Medical ethics have always prevented a physician gossiping about the physical weaknesses or family troubles which patients disclose to him, and that is proper. But there is a vast difference between a salutary ban on gossip enforced by the profession itself and legal exemption from the duty, which no citizen should be allowed to escape, of assisting in the apprehension of criminals and the suppression of crime.

The newspaper and its employés certainly deserve no exemption from this duty. Nor is zeal for exclusive news a proper excuse for protective alliances between newspaper men and criminals.

The newspaper possesses and protects certain rights, and it is for the general welfare that it does so, because freedom of the press is a right and bulwark of the whole people, not merely of the newspaper, its trustee. But the newspaper has at the same time certain duties which, by reason of its facilities for gathering information, may be regarded as more important, even, than the similar obligations of the citizen in general. Foremost among these is its duty to use its power for the enforcement of law, never for the intentional obstruction of enforcement. This duty does not conflict with the right to denounce a bad law or a bad official.

Suspicion sometimes arises that the demand upon a newspaper man that he disclose confidences is not for the purpose of law enforcement but to identify his informants, that some extra-legal punishment may be visited upon them. The reputation of Judge Koenig puts him above such suspicion in the present case, but the notorious subservience of the New York judiciary to Tammany Hall makes him an exception to the rule and leaves the majority of his colleagues particularly open to such suspicion.

Where there is ground for the suspicion outlined the decision which the reporter faces is admittedly difficult. Is he to defy the law or is he to betray a friend to the vengeance of a corrupt political machine? We are forced to the conclusion that his conscience or his knowledge or suspicion of ulterior motives may justify him, morally, in defying the court. But his reasons, which by the very nature of the case he cannot make public, cannot exempt him from the penalty prescribed for his defiance.

No law has ever been written which can meet perfectly every situation arising under it. We believe that less evil will arise from the rare punishment of a newspaper man who obeys his conscience in a good cause than would come through misuse of the plea of professional confidence.

A venal judge is more timid than an upright one in infringing upon rights of the press, for he knows his own weaknesses which expose him to counterattack. An honest judge does not misuse his power under the circumstances we have outlined. The corrupt judge usually will be stayed from doing so by the knowledge that the newspapers justifiably will use their power to make his further tenure on the bench short and miserable.

CHERRY BLOSSOMS IN WISCONSIN.

If the cherry blossom scene of the Door county peninsula in Wisconsin were as well advertised as the blooms of the Japanese trees in Washington the state would not be big enough to hold the invasion of beauty lovers who would go there to enjoy it.

Toward the end of May the entire expanse of the 80 mile thumb of land jutting into the northwest corner of Lake Michigan will be a mass of white blooms that for sheer breath taking beauty the people of Wisconsin will match against any display in the world.

This narrow strip of land ranks first in the world in the concentrated production of red cherries. Two great sheets of water, Lake Michigan on the east and Green bay on the west, serve as huge natural refrigerators which hold back the buds until the season is far enough advanced to insure them against freezing.

One drives for miles between solid banks of cherry blossoms. There are single plantations of 30,000 trees or more and there is scarce a farmyard without its file of trees. The cherry pie is the county's emblem.

Just about Decoration day, give or take a few days according to the season, the whole peninsula is blanketed in white, a sight that has been too little advertised and that is too breath taking to attempt to describe.

Again, about two months later, when the trees are heavily laden with fruit and the picking season is beginning, the cherry fields well repay the short journey required to enjoy them. It is a summer festival in which 10,000 pickers, the whole county, school children and their teachers, Y. M. C. A. boys and Y. W. C. A. girls, Indians from the nearby reservations, and farm families with all their relations, join to strip the trees of their fruit in the shortest time possible.

Sturgeon Bay, almost the center of the peninsula, is also the center of the cherry harvest. Those who know upper Wisconsin only from midsummer vacations and have never visited the state during blossom time or in the fall when its woods outcolor the rainbow have never seen the state at its best or most engaging periods.

Door county is easily available by motor. There are several choices of good fast roads.

Maybe the most interesting is a drive north along the lake shore route and a return through the historical Fox river valley. There is no short drive in the country which will better reward the motorist.

BACK TO THE WOODSHED.

In a debate at Milwaukee the other evening Dr. Garry C. Myers, a child psychologist, declared that "judicious spanking" is good for the growing child.

And about time, too. It seemed for a while that the child psychologists were going to make the world unlivable for parents, if not for all adults. We were told that the child personality was a delicate bud, a very orchid, to be brought to bloom only by the tenderest care. A single harsh word might blast it, the psychologists warned us. A well deserved smack on the fundament was the first step toward producing a boy bandit or, most terrible to contemplate, an inferiority complex.

So if Junior built a bonfire on the back porch that was just his personality developing, and there was nothing the modern parent could do but appease the insurance adjuster. If little Daisy Mae kicked the minister in the shins that reverend gentleman was favored with a homily on self-expression. It got so that the only one who was safe from the little hellions was the family cat, who hadn't read any works on child training, so felt free to use her claws as of yore.

It may be that the psychologists are right, but the wear and tear on the grownups is devastating. What about our own personalities? We'll bet Mrs. Mussolini doesn't keep any of those newfangled books around her house. If she did, Il Duce would by this time be just another Casper Milquetoast.

Our thanks to Dr. Myers. We hope he gets a work relief appropriation to build a million woodsheds in the land, each complete with hairbrush and razor strop.

TRADE WITH RUSSIA.

[Grand Rapids Press.]

Certain special interests are urging the extension of loans to soviet Russia so that it can buy goods from the United States. A "lucrative" export trade is prophesied if American industry and commerce will supply the lucre. We are accused of being "behind the times in appraising the world position of that country" and of "injuring" domestic manufacturers by "ignoring the huge soviet market." The question of the debts contracted by the previous Russian government and now in default should not be allowed, they say, to interfere with the promotion of trade.

Apparently these interests forget the Yankee's capacity to learn from experience and, in spite of some foreign criticism to the contrary, to look at a situation from other than the money angle. We have discovered the "huge" Russian market is a delusion. And a justifiable fear in this country is simply this: Since Russia has defaulted once in her debts, what guarantee is there that it won't do so again if hard pressed? That fear can be removed only by the soviet government's recognition of the war time obligation. Secretary of State Hull negotiated on that basis, making the extension of trade credits contingent on a settlement of the debt at a greatly reduced figure and payable over a long period of time. The offer was rejected because the Russians seemed to want a loan of about twice the sum owed us. As for Russian trade, it is a peewee item at best—far less than our exports to the Netherlands. And there is small promise of expansion.

WASTED EFFORT.

Visitor—Won't it be nice when your little sister learns to talk in a few months?

Little Bernard—Aw, why should she take the trouble to talk? She gets everything she wants already just by crying.—B'nai B'rith Magazine.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

HE GOT THAR FUSTEST WITH THE MOSTEST MEN.

R. H. L.: Bravo! for your recognition of the instinctive military genius of Nathan Bedford Forrest, but I cry shame on you for your misquotation of the man that was a master of direct and effective speech. I invite your attention to: [1] Thompson, C. W., "The Fiery Epoch" [Bobbs-Merrill, 1931], p. 216 ff:

> "No one, not even Napoleon, ever put military art more completely than did General Forrest when, in answer to a woman who asked him the secret of his success, he replied: 'Ma'am, I got there first with the most men.' . . . I am aware that General Forrest's epigram is quoted as 'I got thar fustest with the mostest men,' the explanation being that Forrest was an uneducated man. No uneducated man would ever think of such an intricate and complicated phrase. Nor is it Southern dialect. It is not dialect of any kind, but baby talk. The truth is that some one who was trying to make Forrest talk what he imagined to be Southern dialect evolved that incredible phraseology, and has been followed slavishly ever since. What Forrest really said undoubtedly was: 'Ma'am, I got thar fust with the most men.'"

And again: [2] Take Basil Duke (of whom an unknown prophet predicted that "some day some fellow will put a pistol to Basil Duke's head and blow out John Morgan's brains." Nevertheless, he lived to record a faithful chronicle of Morgan's Riders). Duke, Basil W., "Reminiscences" [Doubleday, 1911], p. 345 ff:

> "Some months later I was present at an interview between him (Forrest) and Morgan, when they were comparing notes. . . . It was upon this occasion that Forrest used an expression which has been very often misquoted. I was a good deal amused by it at the time because of the terse way in which he rendered into the vernacular a proposition which General Beauregard had a few months previously clothed in very sonorous and academic terms: 'Be careful always to move by interior lines and strike the fragment of your enemies' forces with the masses of your own.' I do not know, therefore, whether my surprise or amusement was the greater when I heard Forrest, in this conversation with Morgan, unconsciously paraphrase it in his own curt and peculiar way. Morgan wanted particularly to know about his fight at Murfreesboro, where Forrest had accomplished a marked success. . . . Morgan asked how it was done:
> "'Oh,' said Forrest, 'I just took the short cut and got there first with the most men.'"

R. B. B.

R. B. B.: Greetings! Isn't it possible that dialects are widely different in different localities in the south as well as in the north? The island and coast people of the Carolinas do not talk the same lingo as the hillbillies of Alabama and Georgia. And are you sure that the Piney woods people of Tennessee and Mississippi at the time of the War Between the States did not speak a dialect with which you are not acquainted? Let us consult [1] Pratt, Fletcher, "Ordeal by Fire" [Smith & Haas, York, 1935], p. 164 ff:

> "Bedford Forrest was a bearded giant of piratical aspect who knew nothing of English grammar ('I git there fustest with the mostest, he answered on being asked his principles of making war) but everything about partisan cavalry, conducted his raids on the dispersion principle."

And again [2], Hart, B. H. Liddell, "Sherman, Soldier, Realist, American" [Dodd, Mead & Co., New York, 1929], p. 257 ff:

> "Method is admirable, but it can be developed to the sacrifice of opportunity. There was more breadth of understanding in Forrest's military panacea of 'getting there fustest with the mostest' than in Thomas's emphasis on the importance of every buckle being correct."

And once more, then, to the breach, dear friends: This time, as an illustration of Gen. Forrest's vigorous speech, let us quote from a report made by Forrest during the Fort Pillow massacre, where a large number of Union colored soldiers were killed. Lewis, Lloyd, "Sherman, Fighting Prophet" [Harcourt, Brace & Co., New York, 1932], p. 352 ff:

> "During and after an assault Confederates had slaughtered 350 of these (colored soldiers), many dying while trying to surrender. Forrest later declared that he had tried to halt the horror, but his report to his superiors declared in his subliterate spelling: 'We busted the fort at ninerclock and scatered the niggers. The men is a cillanem in the woods.'"

I think that any one who would say or write "cillanem" for "killing them" is quite likely to have said "to git thar fustest with the mostest men."

THE DREAMER.

When he goes walking in a quiet street
The stars reverberate beneath his feet;
The drowsing trees look quickly up the sky
To see what stranger walks so bravely high.
The rolling hills and sloping valleys spread
A fragrant pillow for his restless head,
And where he sleeps the silver slippered moon
Has laid herself to rest each blazing noon.
Words that he speaks are redolent of pine
And juniper from some far timberline,
And he is only prisoner by birth
Of quiet seasons and a laggard earth.

JOHN DILLON HUSBAND.

AND, ANYHOW, if the veterans do get their bonus there will be lots of money scattered around in general circulation in a very short time. A vet spending his bonus will make a cyclone look as though it were tied to a tree. R. H. L.

FRACTURES: WHAT THEY ARE.

FRACTURES have a way of happening when least expected, and how disturbing they are! They destroy function and, because of the very nature of bone, healing is slow. Then again they usually occur when a physician is not immediately available, and no inconsiderable number of secondary injuries result from the sympathetic but unwise helpfulness [?] of bystanders and friends. Onlookers, however, can be of real help, using simple but effective methods of first aid.

For years surgeons have known that early and intelligent care helps to avert permanent disabilities and deformities, and often results in the saving of weeks or months of time. In 1930 a national committee on fractures composed of eminent surgeons issued a fracture primer in which attention was called to the importance of proper care at the earliest possible moment and the avoidance of unnecessarily moving the patient.

Among the many wise aphorisms connected with the treatment of fractures are: "Splint 'em where they lie," "Shock that is caused by fracture is made worse by handling," "First stop the hemorrhage, treat the shock, splint the fracture, and then transport the patient to a hospital," "A fracture properly reduced and held in position is painless."

How do fractures differ and which are really serious? First, there is the so-called "simple" fracture in which no fragment of bone penetrates the skin. Second, "compound," in which the skin is injured so that an avenue of communication is established from the outside of the body to the site of the fracture. Third, "comminuted," in which the bone is broken into several fragments. In this latter type the skin may or may not be broken. Fourth, there is what is known as a "green-stick" fracture, in which the bone is not broken completely through; in other words, the bone appears merely to be bent. This type is more common in children.

Even though a fracture is "simple," we must not think of the injury as involving only the bone. If a blow has been of sufficient force to break a bone then muscles, nerves, ligaments, tendons, and blood vessels have also been torn and crushed and the entire area is usually filled with blood. Therefore, in dealing with injuries we must consider not only the bones involved but all of the soft tissues as well. More pain comes from lacerated nerves, tendons, and muscles than from broken bones.

Nature heals bone slowly, and the rapidity with which repair occurs depends a good deal upon the accurate adjustment of the fragments. Furthermore, the nutrition of the patient must be maintained at the highest possible level. Calcium phosphate may be given by mouth and every effort must be made to keep the patient comfortable and in a happy frame of mind. Healing begins rather promptly, and the broken ends are united by the deposit of "callus" [new bone] that envelopes the fragments, much as the wipe joint used by the plumber joins two pieces of lead pipe.

Once the patient is in a well equipped hospital and in charge of a competent surgeon our worries are practically over. There are types of splints to fit almost every variety of fracture. Special beds are made for the comfort of the patient and bedside X-ray units may be used to check the position of injured bone. By this means the process of healing may be observed frequently.

We must be sure that healing will result in the restoration of normal function. If a limb has been in a splint for many weeks it will be found that the muscles have become atrophied and weakened because of disuse. This means that some form of exercise must be begun as soon as possible. Massage, heat, and other forms of physical therapy will need to be employed. Sometimes muscles will need to be stretched, and this requires patience and complete coöperation on the part of the injured person.

Another article on fractures will appear tomorrow.

FRACTURED RIB.

C. L. C. writes: I have what is thought to be a broken lower rib incurred by pressure on the left side while wrestling. I've felt a pain there for some time. Would it be advantageous to tape this side?

REPLY:

If a rib has been fractured the application of adhesive tape will reduce the movements of the side and permit the rib to heal.

SWOLLEN FEET.

L. E. writes: In warm weather I am in agony caused by swollen feet. Not only my feet swell but my ankles and even the entire leg. Is there a remedy for this?

REPLY.

There are several things to be thought of. Among these are glandular deficiency such as not enough thyroid, kidney disease or heart disease or both. Sometimes retention of water in the tissues is due to faulty metabolism. You should have a careful physical examination to determine the exact cause. As a rule, the condition can be remedied without difficulty.

TROUBLE IN KNEE.

M. B. writes: My brother has had trouble with his left knee for about ten years. It seems to knot or tighten in his kneecap and when this happens he cannot walk. It comes on suddenly and stays for some time.

REPLY.

This may be due to muscle spasm or to bursitis. Abnormalities of the joint should be investigated. X-ray of the knee may disclose the cause. If it is a muscular spasm heat, rest, and massage will bring about improvement.

CHICKEN POX.

Anxious Reader writes: Is chicken pox in an adult serious?

REPLY.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

PROPERTY DESCENT.

Gary, Ind., May 10.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My father died six years ago and left a will bequeathing all his real estate, etc., to my mother. She has never had his will filed for probate. Now my mother has made a will, dividing the property among the children. I do not feel that this will is valid as long as she has not filed my father's will for probate. Am I wrong in this matter? Will you kindly write me your opinion?

J. M. C.

In view of the fact that all of the property goes to you children, regardless of whether there is a will or not, we see no materiality to the point. Probate proceedings are necessary in order to produce a technically merchantable title to the real estate, but in view of the time that has elapsed, you may persuade a purchaser to waive probate of your father's estate.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

MAY NOT APPLY.

Madison, Wis., May 10.—[Friend of the People.]—I entered this country illegally as a sailor in May, 1924. In March, 1932, I married a woman of American birth. What steps are necessary for me to take in order to become a citizen?

F. S.

At present, there is no remedial legislation providing for the legalization of residence of those aliens who entered the United States without inspection between June 3, 1921, and July 1, 1924. Under these circumstances the writer is not in a position to apply for citizenship.

FRED J. SCHLOTFELDT.

PROBATE EXPENSES.

Chicago, May 11.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. What percentage can a lawyer charge for handling a will in probate, and also the cost of the Probate court? The will amounts to $6,400 in stocks and mortgages. 2. Can the lawyer charge 10 per cent and the Probate court 10 per cent, making a total of 20 per cent? W. R. J.

1. Illinois statute specifies that the administrator's fee shall not exceed 6 per cent of the personal property, except in special cases. In our opinion, the attorney's fee ought to be taken care of out of this 6 per cent.

2. Such charges would be clearly exorbitant unless exceptional services had been involved. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

ESTATE FEES.

Chicago, May 16.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. What is the usual executor's fee in settling an estate consisting simply of $18,500 in notes with interest coupons, all collected without default, and with about a half dozen unquestioned bills to be paid? 2. What would the executor's lawyer usually receive? 3. Is the executor's lawyer paid out of the executor's fee or is the lawyer's fee a separate amount allowed by the court against the estate? 4. When the executor files claims of his own which antedate his executorship and the executor's lawyer is permitted by the court to act for the executor in prosecuting these claims against the estate, does the executor's lawyer draw his fee for this litigation out of the estate? 5. Is this part of his fee a personal indebtedness of the executor, whether the claims are legally upheld or denied? A. R. J.

1. If you can get possession of the notes it is not clear that any probate proceedings would be necessary. We cannot advise without having the facts more adequately before us.

2. See 1.

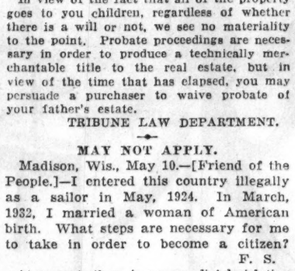
3. In our opinion the executor's lawyer should be paid out of the executor's fee, but there is some difference of opinion on the point.

4. On the face of it we would disapprove of the lawyer's attempting to represent both sides. Clearly he should not draw fees from the estate for acting adversely to the estate.

5. Yes. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

The DEBUNKER

By John Harvey Furbay, Ph. D.



The popular conception of an "undertow" along the seashore is nothing but a myth, according to studies of Harvard geographers, and leading astronomers, who have studied this subject. They say that there is no evidence that the water is sucked underneath the surface in any such manner as is usually ascribed to "undertows." They say that the waves which lap up on the shore do not form any suction as they sweep back into the sea, and that swimmers reported to have been suddenly sucked down by an undertow were probably seized with cramps.

PASSED ON TO THE LILAC GIVERS.

Chicago, May 17.—Just a note in sincere appreciation of the great humanitarian deed in which THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE played a major part in sponsoring the campaign of delivering lilacs and other flowers to the patients of the Cook County hospital. This generous act helped relieve the grief and sufferings of thousands confined to beds who look forward to organizations such as yours for a small ray of cheer.

Also, we wish to express our thanks to Virginia Gardner for her kindly article published in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE on May 17, in which she expressed so vividly the spirits of our patients upon receiving these blossoms.

Trusting this letter will be able to convey our gratitude, MICHAEL ZIMMER, Warden.

Chicago, May 16.—We wish to take this means of thanking you in behalf of the patients and the hospital for your kindness in delivering lilacs, which were distributed through the wards of our hospital. MAURICE DUBIN,
Director Mount Sinai Hospital.

CORN WALLACE'S FARMERS.

Savanna, Ill., May 15.—Your account of the so-called farmers' visit to Washington in today's issue is highly amusing to a real dirt farmer. Corn Wallace is a good showman and he had a nice party. "A good time was had by all," but after all what does it amount to? Every one knows that a real farmer is too busy at this season of the year to use his time lobbying.

President Roosevelt in his speech to the farmers said, "You and I must educate the people of the country to the facts." It makes one wonder how they are going to educate us when they themselves do not know what it is all about. We do know this much—that no crop regulation can be a success when nature itself raises or lowers production more than AAA brain trusters contemplate. The plan will work when nature works with the AAA, but how about it when old mother nature goes in the other direction?

The whole scheme is "harebrained" and only a bad dream.

A DIRT FARMER.

THE COURTROOM FLAG.

Chicago, May 13.—I was with a friend last week in Judge Heller's courtroom in the Shakespeare avenue police station. It was a bright day, the sun shining in through the windows and the electric lights were burning brightly during the two hour visit. Does the money from the taxes go to pay these electric light bills? There was a dirty looking American flag hanging near the judge's bench. Such disgraceful things, I believe, should be remedied by the judge.

W. I. BALKWILL.

THE OLD STATE CAPITAL.

Chicago, May 11.—In answer to the question of Ruth Hollister in yesterday's TRIBUNE: It appears from the "laws of the state of Illinois passed by the eleventh general assembly at their session began and held at Vandalia on the third of December, one thousand eight hundred and thirty-eight," that the state capital was still at Vandalia as late as March 14, 1839, the date of the certificate thereto of A. P. Field, secretary of state.

However, on pages 134-135 thereof is "an act disposing of the public property in Vandalia," approved Feb. 19, 1839, the subject matter of which is "the house on the public square, in Vandalia, now occupied and used as a state house." The act states that it is to be "in force from the date at which the public offices shall be removed from Vandalia."

The move must have been made that year as appears from the title page of the "laws of the state of Illinois, passed by the eleventh general assembly at their special session began and held at Springfield on the ninth of December, one thousand eight hundred and thirty-nine."

It further appears from the laws of the 10th general assembly, Dec. 5, 1836, to March 6, 1837, pages 323-324, that the new state house was under construction as early as Feb. 11, 1837, appropriations being made on that date for "labor done to and upon said state house up to this time," although on page 322 it appears that as late as March 3, 1837, that the site of the building has not, as yet, been ascertained with certainty. It is interesting to note that three commissioners were named "to superintend the erection of the public buildings aforesaid," that they should furnish bonds "in the penalty of ten thousand dollars each" and "they shall be allowed three dollars per day for their services."

From my investigation I believe that THE TRIBUNE must be right and Western Guide book wrong. C. S. VANDUZER.

TRIBUTE TO EDWIN B. FROST.

Urbana, Ill., May 15.—The tribute to Edwin B. Frost in this morning's paper, written by Philip Kinsley, deserves a permanent place in writings of this sort. If it would do any good every line should be engraved in gold in every schoolroom in this land. I had the privilege of knowing Dr. Frost slightly for years, and Mr. Kinsley's words express in the finest way the feelings of affection and admiration that the great astronomer's friends had for him.

Will you issue this noble tribute in booklet form, that it may be made available to the many who will want to keep it? If issued at a modest price, say 10 cents, I'll ask for a hundred copies. A chance for a friendship remembrance like this is too valuable to overlook. W. G. PIERSEL.

Wedding Plans of Simpson and Boston Girl Told

Ceremony Set for June 8 in Eastern City.

BY JUDITH CASS.

TRAVELING back east today after a week-end gay with dining and dancing, Miss Beatrice De Menocal of Boston and her fiancé, William Simpson, whose residence is now in New York City, will be discussing the final preparations for their wedding on June 8.

The service is to be read at high noon at the altar of Emanuel church in Boston and there will be a reception following at the home of Miss De Menocal's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel A. De Menocal. Eight bridesmaids and a maid of honor will precede the bride down the aile, which means that the wedding will be one of the largest and most impressive we have written of this season.

Miss Esmee De Menocal will attend her sister as maid of honor. The bridesmaids will be representative of Boston and New York society. They are Miss Anne B. Dick, Miss Harriet Moseley, Miss Phyllis Forbes, Miss Marion De Forest Clark, and Miss Dorothy Forbes, all of Boston, and Mrs. Clarence Moore, Miss Rosalie De F. Crosby, and Mrs. Daniel A. Davis of New York.

James Simpson Jr. Will Be Best Man.

James Simpson Jr. will go east to serve his brother as best man, and another brother, John MacLaren Simpson, will be one of the ushers. There is one more Chicagoan, Hugh McBirney Johnston, included on the ushering list. The other ushers are to be Parmaley W. Herrick Jr., Robert Grant III., and Arthur O. Choate Jr., all of New York; Clayton F. Banks Jr., and William Pepper Watts, both of Philadelphia, and Robert Stewart of Boston.

All of these bachelors and benedicts will be in New York the evening of May 29 for young Mr. Simpson's bachelor dinner at the Harvard club. The rest of the entertaining prior to the wedding will be in Boston and will be concentrated in the week before the ceremony.

In Chicago the last week-end Miss De Menocal and Mr. Simpson have been with his parents, the James Simpsons, at their Glencoe home. All of those who met Miss De Menocal at a dinner-dance Saturday night at Shoreacres, at luncheon at the junior James Simpsons, yesterday noon, or at Mrs. John W. Gary's home last evening only wish that Mr. Simpson were bringing her here rather than taking her to New York to live after their wedding.

Week-End Party Before Wedding of Dodd Twins.

Preliminary to the double wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis H. Dodds' twin daughters, Lois and Helen, the evening of June 12, the members of the bridal party will motor to Dixon, Ill., June 7 for an out of door week-end. Mr. and Mrs. Justin Dart, both members of the wedding party, are to be host and hostess at the country home of Mrs. Dart's father, Charles R. Walgreen.

This is known as Hazelhurst and is a beautiful farm on the Rock river at Dixon. There are a large swimming pool, splendid stables, and two adjoining golf courses, certainly enough to satisfy the taste of any sportsman.

There are many other parties for the popular twins before their wedding day and they will all reach their climax in the bridal dinner Mr. and Mrs. Dodd are giving the night before the wedding. Lois will become the bride of David Brown Richardson, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Arthur Richardson of Oklahoma City, and Helen will be married to Harris Bradbury Burrows III. of Cleveland. The service will be read at 8:30 the evening of the 12th at the altar of St. Paul's church.

The complete usher list, not previously announced, includes James Miller and Stewart Brown, both of Cleveland, Crawford Bennett of Oklahoma City, Walter Scott Trude Jr., Henry L. McIntyre, and Justin Dart. John Hamilton II., Cedar Rapids, will be best man for Mr. Richardson and Richard Chase Burrows of Cleveland will be best man

Aids Benefit Bridge Tea

Mrs. Harold L. Sippy and Camilla, 3 months old.

MRS. HAROLD L. SIPPY [the former Camilla Breuer] is working for the success of a bridge and tea party the Wesley Service club is to give Wednesday at the Drake hotel. The club hopes to raise sufficient money to refurnish and redecorate an entire wing of Wesley Memorial hospital. The organization was formed only this year. Dr. and Mrs. Sippy plan to spend most of the summer in their Pearson street apartment, with occasional trips to his mother's farm in Michigan.

Front Views and Profiles

By June Provines

MRS. A. N. TOUPOLEV, wife of man who designed and built the great Russian airliner, the Maxim Gorky, that crashed Saturday is, perhaps, a model of what one might expect of a soviet wife. She has been interpreter for her husband during the trip of the soviet government engineers through America the last two months, inspecting airports, airdromes, and airplane and automobile factories. And at home it is she who reads the technical books on engineering that are published in foreign languages and translates their contents to her husband.

Interpreter—Warning—Reassurance—Charity—Spring.

Mrs. Toupolev, a slim, dark haired, and pleasant woman, was one of two women in the party entertained in Chicago by Vincent Bendix. The other was Mrs. N. A. Sokolov, wife of the vice president of Amtorg, Inc. Both were at the party Mr. Bendix gave at his home Saturday afternoon in honor of the Russian party, the gayety of which was darkened by the news of the airplane disaster. Most of the Russians withdrew to another room, and although later some of them returned to the drawing room to listen to the music and singing their host had arranged in their honor, and to eat the herring, black bread and vodka that complemented the other hors d'œuvres, Mr. Toupolev stayed in an inner room, grieving over the loss of his friends and his ship, and trying to get further details from Washington. It had been, indeed, at a moment when a toast had been proposed to the success of his great ship that news of the crash had come.

"I have your eloquent plea for charity in behalf of yourself and friends, and in view of the fact that it is no more than the amount requested by panhandlers on Van Buren street I am inclosing herewith the sum of one dime and a sincere hope that it will help you toward prosperity. Be honest and good luck to you."

Paul Whiteman and Orchestra Reach New High

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Paul Whiteman, his orchestra of experts, and the specialists of his program came to the Auditorium yesterday afternoon and evening to prove all over again that American popular music is the best in the world. He himself has grown thinner, but his music, if anything, has grown better.

Apart from an occasional piece such as George Gershwin's Rhapsody in Blue, Mr. Whiteman has apparently laid aside his plan to get composers in other fields to write special music for his orchestra. Instead, he takes music already existing and builds it up into numbers of unbelievable potency and charm. In fact, he would seem to be the cause, if not the actual inventor, of a new style in popular music.

A simple melody finds itself newly harmonized, newly scored, and with these additions and his own trick of accents, newly played, sounding like a totally new and highly elaborate work. And when he takes up a piece such as "Waltzing Through the Ages," with references to Beethoven's Minuet in G and Tschaikowsky's Fifth Symphony as well as to pretty nearly every famous waltz tune from the "Blue Danube" to "The Sidewalks of New York," he makes it a wise and witty comment on the whole waltz theory.

Never were he and his assistants in better form or capable of distributing more enjoyment than on this visit.

A massed choir of vested boys and men that completely filled the stage of Orchestra hall gave their third annual sacred concert yesterday afternoon under the direction of the Chicago Choirmasters' association. Drawn from the Episcopal churches of Chicago, they presented a program illustrating the seasons of the Episcopal church year. Robert R. Birch, president of the association, conducted. Horace Whitehouse was at the organ, and George E. Celga and Ralph E. Anschuetz at the pianos. All are members of the association.

For so large a body, they sang with remarkable precision and accuracy. The tone was not great, but of great purity and beauty. A special Epiphany anthem, "Now There 'Lights Upon Us," was composed by Leo Sowerby for this occasion and conducted by him.

The Chicago Singverein celebrated its twenty-fifth anniversary at Orchestra hall Saturday night with an excellently sung performance of Hugo Kaun's oratorio, "Mutter Erde." Walter H. Steindel has succeeded to the conductorship formerly held by the late William Boeppler, founder of the chorus, and would seem to be unusually well equipped for the position. The tone of the chorus is firm, full, and of good quality; it sings with exact, well tempered discipline.

The soloists for this melodious and agreeable work were Lucie Westen, Mari Barova, Arthur Kraft, and Willard Andelin, Chicago singers of fine ability.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

This one pins a little white gardenia on the lapel of the noble police officer and ties firecrackers to the tails of the crook and his protector—the shyster lawyer.

That the gardenia is rather insecurely fastened and some of the firecrackers a bit wet, interferes somewhat with the effect of the makers' laudable intentions.

For instance:

SUPPOSE you were a district attorney prosecuting a case. SUPPOSE the outcome OF that case depended on the fact as to whether the moon was shining on a certain night. SUPPOSE the defense came whamming forth with an almanac, declaring same showed that on the evening in question the moon was in the dark—AND, by so declaring, so confused your star witness that he resolved into an imitation of a babbling brook. IF you were this district attorney DON'T you suppose it would occur to you to ask for a look at that almanac and SEE if it had been published in the present year of our Lord—or, say, back in 1906?

Well, such a thought never enters the heads of anybody concerned in the prosecution of the case in "Behind the Green Lights." District attorney, bright young police representative who has done such swell work in apprehending his men, old, canny dogs of the department of justice, sit in wonder and dismay while the pretty girl lawyer who fronts for a famous shyster does the histrionic bamboozling that loses the case for the state. Even Hizzoner folds up and without question calls it a day.

As for YOU—you say "PHOOEY!"

The picture is timely, of course, and, undoubtedly, makes the shyster lawyer look low as a serpent's tummy. Mr. Blackmer does a slick job as the conscienceless wire puller. Norman Foster gives his best to the rôle of the bright young detective who foils, and foils, and foils. . . . Judith Allen, as the lady lawyer, isn't so good. As the daughter of a police captain and the fiancée of the B. Y. D., she works enthusiastically on the cases of Lawyer Cortell without ever suspecting him of wrong. TILL—the man she has freed with the almanac trick shoots her papa. THEN—her eyes are opened and she wreaks good, old fashioned revenge. Speaking of her eyes, they're lovely, but she bats 'em too much.

The action's fast, if phoney, and the finale's what you expect.

See you tomorrow!

From a Chicago shop—Red silk taffeta bow and collar trim the slim one piece printed dress of this red and white chiffon street ensemble. Fred Stone to Make Film Debut as Katy's Dad in 'Alice Adams'

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., May 19.—[Special.]—Booth Tarkington's story, "Alice Adams," provides Fred Stone with his opportunity for a motion picture début. Fred has been signed by Radio studio to play Katy's father. Fred MacMurray, 40 years old, Stone's junior, but like him just getting launched in films, is cast opposite Katharine Hepburn in the story. MacMurray has made quite an impression in his only other movie appearance to date. If recollection serves aright, Fred Stone's latest acting was in "The Jayhawker," on the New York stage. His daughter, Paula, has preceded him into the movies.

Jack Kirkland, ex-husband of Nancy Carroll and of Jane Shattuck, has been escorting June Travis, daughter of Harry Grabiner of Chicago, about Hollywood. Kirkland's stage hit, "Tobacco Road," which he adapted from the novel and himself produced, is doing even better on its Los Angeles run than on Broadway.

Marguerite Namara, former Chicago grand opera singer, is training Ramon Novarro in voice for his coming concert and personal appearance tour of South America.

The second of the annual spring cycle of Annapolis films, titled "Anchors Aweigh," will have Dick Powell, Nick Foran, Robert Light, and Ruby Keeler in it. It will be filmed by Frank Borzage, director, for Warner Brothers. A company from Paramount studio, headed by Director Al Hall, already is at Annapolis for a naval academy story.

Harold Lamb, who wrote the book "The Crusades" and was technical director for C. B. De Mille's spectacle "Crusades," just being completed, has been put under film contract again to help write De Mille's next pageant.

Smart Blouses Old-fashioned in Sleeve Line

New Linen Numbers Will Not Wrinkle.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

May discoveries . . . a grand collection of new blouses, among them some of the best looking hand made honeys that have been seen in weeks. Some new old fashioned models with long sleeves, a double frill down the center of the chest, tiny tucks, tiny stitches, fine lace and the material a lively sheer white lawn.

Also some striped mousseline de soie numbers just about the sheerest affairs you can wear. You'll find these with short sleeves and long double and triple voiles, every stitch by hand as well as the clusters of tucks and all lace as delicate as a cobweb. The kind of blouses you have been looking for, the superlatively feminine things to wear with dress parade suits.

And while you are shopping for these sheer beauties, you should shop for trim tailored and hand made costume slips of dull white, the perfect, as well as properly visible foundations for these blouses. Unless you wear the most severely simple of underslips, the sheer beauty of any of the above mentioned blouses is lost.

Are you an enthusiastic linen collector? Then you'll cheer for the snappy tailored blouses of the new linen in all pastel colors and street shades. And the linen does not wrinkle. To prove that statement all you have to do is to place one of the old fashioned linen models beside these new inventions and the comparison will convince the most doubting soul.

Printed linens as sheer as a hanky and effectively pastel in color, have double frills and collar outlined in white. Some stunning new silk shantungs, all hand made, with hand drawn work trimmings come in very unusual colors, such as tangerine and cobalt blue.

Printed linen piques are other good tops for suits of either linen, cotton, silk, or wool. Blazer stripes with sections of the striped material used as contrasting trim are as new and as different as the printed linen knockouts of red and navy made of a white background linen with white dots the size of a silver half dollar. It's good time to buy the extra blouse supply!

One of the newest red and white printed chiffon street ensembles to wear with either dark or white costume accessories is pictured today. The flattering frills on both the dress and long sleeved jacket are used for cuffs and hip pockets. The collar and tie of the dress are made of matching red silk taffeta. This charming early summer ensemble is available in a Chicago shop.

THE SLEEPING CHILD

By Alice Grant Rosman.

SYNOPSIS.

Miss Fell scents romance when she sees Miles Buchanan meet Eleanor Chevening, returning from London, at the Fendon railway station. Miles has been forced through adversity to shut up most of the Priory, his inherited home. The girls of the Chevening family of Fendon Edge are pursuing careers. Pauline having had a play produced and now working on a period piece, assisted by Miss Ffolett. Eleanor is studying medicine. Jenny, the youngest, runs a smart hat shop in Knightsbridge, and gets engaged and disengaged now and then. Audrey, an orphaned second cousin, with a talent for design, has for 15 years been as a daughter to Anne and George Chevening, the girls' parents. Pauline uses Audrey's skill for her theater. The Chevenings have a small flat in London. It is Audrey who claims Miles' interest. Miles and Geoffrey Burton are partners in a stock breeding venture. Albert King, wealthy newcomer to Fendon, wants to buy the ruins of an ancient monastery on the Priory grounds. Audrey and Miles become engaged. Anne Chevening had been in love with Audrey's father, Hector Chevening. Her parents broke up the romance and persuaded her to marry his cousin. Later Hector, a victim of the war and penniless, had brought his wife and child to visit the Chevenings, at George's invitation. Anne still loved Hector and knew he still loved her. Shortly after they left Hector shot his wife and himself. Neighbors had heard them quarrel. Audrey was in the next room, apparently asleep. No one ever spoke to her of the tragedy. Anne loves Audrey as her own child, but her sense of guilt is a barrier between them. George Chevening makes Audrey a gift of a thousand pounds. Miles' aunt, Miss Dorset, doubles the amount. When the engagement becomes known, gossip begins. Miss Dorset has stated that Audrey's father was killed by the Turks. Miss Fell calls Audrey a cuckoo in the nest. Both remarks are overheard by the rector's two demon children, Minx and Binks. Eleanor Chevening is secretly annoyed because Audrey has the center of the stage. Pauline brings Miss Ffolett to visit at Fendon Edge.

INSTALMENT XXV.

WOMEN AND FINANCE.

Pauline and Miss Ffolett, in their borrowed car, an open baby model with plenty of pace if few pretensions to beauty in this fifth or sixth year of its age, reached Fendon Edge well before luncheon on Sunday. Miss Ffolett was driving. She could turn her hand to most things, this small woman who looked rather like a mouse dressed up, until she began to talk of her theater, when she became an eagle.

The Chevenings' home surprised her. She used the people who came her way as a matter of course when they showed any disposition to be useful, and Pauline had always spoken of limited means, which seemed incredible in view of this country mansion standing in its own park.

Miss Ffolett's aloofness left Audrey anxious about her sketches.

Having never considered the question, she did not realize that such estates fetch very little in the open market nowadays, or that George Chevening, with responsibilities to many people besides his immediate family, might still be lord of the manor and a comparatively poor man. In short, she was unduly impressed, not by the grandeur of the place, which did not interest her in the least, but by the unexpected possibilities of this visit.

A creature of one idea, she spent her life, when not actually producing plays, looking round for people with money or talent or influence and invoking their aid.

"One must do it," she said. "It is the only way."

Refusal neither daunted nor embarrassed her, for her own comfort and prosperity were in no way involved, since she would always give what she had to the same cause.

The funny clothes at which Pauline hinted were due to indifference to her own appearance, and were surprising in a woman who knew very well how to dress a play. They varied little, were always loose and rather long, with round, open necks, and buttoned half way down the back; comfortable, workmanlike coverings, in fact, giving full play to the energetic body. A stout cord at the waist, confining voluminous folds of material, immediately suggested to Audrey's fascinated gaze somebody's grandmother's window curtain, put to a new use; yet the face above it was interesting, and she began to think with excitement of her colorful "rough" of the last act and the stack of individual sketches waiting for Miss Ffolett's eye. She had spent the greater part of the last two days upon them, had forgotten not even a banner.

"They're all done—to the last button," she informed her cousin confidentially under the clatter of arrival and introductions.

"O, good . . . hear that Emily? . . . the rest of the designs. What did I tell you? . . . and this is Audrey."

"But how kind," said Miss Ffolett, a little vague, perhaps, after the fatigue of the journey, but shaking Audrey's hand with a firm grip. "My dear, I'm positively cramped and very dirty. I wonder if we might wash and have a little rest?"

Pauline carried her away upstairs obediently, and Audrey, not invited to accompany them, waited, then betook herself to the sitting room to look at her handiwork again and make sure it was set out in a good light. Time went on, no sound reached her from Paula's room, and it soon become clear that there would be no inspection of the sketches until after lunch.

Eventually Pauline and her friend appeared, the guest remarking: "Now this is delightful," as she sank into a chair.

She was carrying a large and very full brocade bag, which she placed on the floor beside her, the kind of thing, thought Anne, that perpetual knitters carry about with them. She almost expected Miss Ffolett to produce a half-made jumper and set to work, but here she was mistaken. The bag contained leaflets, press cuttings, letters, a stout diary, and a couple of loose-leaf note-books, filled with memoranda, the pages ornamented with discs of paper in various colorings. This cryptic device saved the busy little woman many minutes a day, and the bag went with her on all occasions.

"I am afraid you are fatigued after your long drive," said Mrs. Chevening.

"Indeed no, thank you, we are now quite refreshed," said Miss Ffolett, absent-mindedly answering for her hostess' daughter as well as herself.

Audrey and Miles walked in, and after them George Chevening, and the conversation became general, until they were all seated at luncheon.

To the master of the house, the oddness of his daughter's companion mattered little, in view of the fact that she was a public spirited woman, as he believed, doing a useful work for a section of the unemployed who could not be reached by other means. He endeavored to compliment her on this, but the conversation went a little astray.

"Paula tells me you have established this summer theater for actors and actresses who have been hit by the depression, like every one else."

"Yes indeed. We have been able to get such excellent material," agreed Miss Ffolett. She mentioned some of the players who had taken part in the seaside season, surprised that they appeared to be unknown to him.

It was now divulged that the new play would not, after all, be tried out on their present rather inadequate stage, but in London itself, where a theater had been tentatively secured for a Sunday evening performance late in November. Backing, however, was urgently needed.

"And here you can help us, I hope, dear Mr. Chevening," concluded the guest. "Do say that you will."

George did not immediately catch her meaning. Did the poor woman suppose he had any influence with theatrical magnates, or whatever you called the fellows? The idea amused him, but he was a little uneasy, too. He saw that he had been mistaken in his estimate of this seaside venture, and was afraid that Pauline was mixing herself up with a crank, if nothing worse—a view that was strengthened when he discovered that she was asking for money almost pointblank.

Not a mere guinea for a deserving charity, but hundreds—or thousands, was it? At his own luncheon table!

"I am a poor man, Miss Ffolett. I'm sorry," he said when he had recovered from his astonishment. "That is quite out of the question."

"But think of it as an investment," urged the little woman eagerly. "And such a good one, I assure you. Of course, there's an element of risk, but isn't that so with all investments? And the profits, if the play succeeds—as I am convinced it will—both quick and considerable."

"If it were gilt edged I couldn't consider it," he told her drily, and did not trouble to add that, had he been a millionaire, his reply would have been equally final. His views on women and finance were confirmed by the incident, which was a little hard on Miss Ffolett, who had achieved much on a sum that would surprise him.

"You must just let me show you some of the opinions I have had from people of experience and judgment," proceeded Emily.

"Dry ground, Emily," interposed Paula. "I've told you we are poor, and anyway father has a wedding in the family to think of at the moment."

"A better investment than yours, in fact," nodded her father with a smile for Audrey, who returned it rather doubtfully. "Eh, Miles?"

"Ah, well," Miss Ffolett said philosophically, "one can but ask."

Certain Smart Women Prefer Bright Polish

Gay Finger Nails Still Have Popularity.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

The other day I listened to a beauty parlor conversation, the voices emanating from an adjoining booth. Fingernail polishes were under discussion. One woman volunteered that the bright red polishes were not stylish any more. The other agreed that that was what she had heard, too. But we doubt that they got their information from reliable sources. If anything, it seems to me, the nails are becoming more brilliant.

Personally, I am one of those who like the burning torches. I understand the men do not agree with me, that there is a deep and abiding taste among them against the flaming nail tip. However, I note they don't leave the girl behind evenings, whose nails are tinted. She's right there with them flipping her gay nails right into their faces. Which proves either that you can't believe half of what you hear about men or that women do not dress their finger nails to please the opposite sex.

As I make it out, getting around a bit, the glittering nail is firmly entrenched in the hearts of the fair ones. And nice fair ones, too, très chic and distinguished women among them. A Paris fashion note informs us that bright red and yellow red lacker are in the lead and will so remain for the summer dress season. They look so well with the white sports type of things.

However, it is suggested that when one decides to go picture frock of an evening, appear in a plaited chiffon of pastel hue, or stir up old memories with rustling taffetas, the complementary nail dressing should be along the pastel line. If you go in for form fitting, slinky satins or their equivalent in materials of sophisticated type, then you may let your nails blossom forth even to brilliant nasturtium shades.

There's another little departure in the two layer nail tint. Topaz, an opalescent, pearly type of polish, over a rairin' red shade, or over the aforementioned nasturtium.

Drop FREEZONE on that aching corn. Instantly it stops hurting; then shortly you lift the corn right off with the fingers. You'll laugh, really! It is so easy and doesn't hurt one bit. Works like a charm, every time.

FREEZONE

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

A liquid finishing cream that is, to our way of thinking, one of the most exquisite of all the preparations designed to glorify faces, is something you should investigate if you want a foundation that is not too heavy for comfortable summer use, but that insures a satisfactory lasting makeup.

Its texture is exactly like that of real cream as it comes from the dairy. There's something appetizing about the very sight of it, and there's everything attractive about the little white, footed jar in which it comes.

Blending it in with the fingers is sheer joy because it's so delicately creamy and because its fragrance is delightful. It gives the skin a beautiful finish and a faint touch of the luminousness that is so becoming to both old and young women. You may obtain it in two shades, a flesh that is immensely becoming to women whose complexions are on the brunette order and a light cream that emphasizes natural fairness.

It's a grand makeup base. Rouge and powder slide on beautifully and stay on longer. You'll look your most glamorous for hours on end.

This liquid finishing cream has a charming mate in an exquisite, feathery face powder.

Ceremony Set for June 8 in Eastern City.

for his brother. Mrs. Dart and Mrs. Trude are to be the brides' only attendants.

From New York comes the announcement of the engagement of Miss Dorothy Makepeace, daughter of Charles D. Makepeace of New York and Sound View avenue, Stamford, Conn., to Donovan Hall of Boston and Chicago, son of Mrs. Agnes Hall of Chicago. The engagement was announced by Mr. Makepeace Saturday. Miss Makepeace is a graduate of the Emma Willard school and of Vassar college, class of 1930. Mr. Hall is a graduate of the Chicago Latin School for Boys and of Harvard university, class of 1928. The wedding will take place next fall.

Proud parents of girls and boys who are pupils at the Harris school will be making a trip over to the school about 3 o'clock this afternoon for the annual Harris day program. There will be dances by the girls who have studied rhythms the last year, a demonstration of calisthenics, a boxing match, and an exhibit of the hobbies of the various students. This exhibit is the culmination of a series of lectures given during the year by E. J. Buckles to stimulate a greater interest in the fine arts. A tea party planned by Mrs. Paul Gerhardt Jr. will climax the program. Little Paul Gerhardt is one of those who will contribute to the program. Others are Joseph E. Otis III., Nancy Brown, Shaw McCutcheon, Richard Crane, Brownie Braun, Joan Dunham, Peggy Reeve, Patricia Mallers, and Dick Gratiot.

Arden Shore Tea and Card Party Today.

Arden Shore's industrial committee in Highland Park will have its monthly card party and tea this afternoon at the home of Mrs. George A. Mason. This group has interested Highland Park merchants to the extent that they now donate meat and bakery goods to the camp each week.

Mrs. Robert B. Gregory was out at the Arden Shore camp yesterday for the annual homecoming of the winter camp boys. Mrs. Gregory has long been interested in Arden Shore's work and is now the honorary president. There were more than 150 former campers at the reunion.

The junior James B. Forgans have rented their spacious Lake Forest home to Mr. and Mrs. Edmund J. Doering Jr. for the summer, and the Doerings and their daughter, Miss Nancy Doering, will move in June 1. The Forgans will take a cottage on the grounds of the Onwentsia club for a part of the summer at least, but they have not made plans for the entire summer. They will motor east, however, about June 1 for the graduation of their daughter, Nancy, from Chatham Hall. Miss Louise Forgan, who returned last week from Bermuda and New York, will accompany her parents to Chatham Hall.

Mrs. Frank P. Hixon, president of the Illinois League of Women Voters, will speak on "The Challenge of the League" at the annual meeting of the Lake Shore League of Women Voters today at the Casino club. State Senator T. V. Smith will speak on "A Senator Looks at the League of Women Voters" at the luncheon, which will begin at 12:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Thomas E. Wilson will entertain the board members of the Chicago Home for Convalescent Women and Children at luncheon today in her home at 4815 Woodlawn avenue. A regular monthly meeting will precede the luncheon.

Mrs. Abner J. Stilwell to Be Here Several Months.

Now that Mr. and Mrs. Abner J. Stilwell have returned from California to his former Astor street residence their friends are pleased to learn that his bride, the former Rosemary Ames, will be in Chicago for at least a few months. Many parties are being planned to welcome her back to Chicago, of which she has seen so little during the last few years, but as the Stilwells are busy settling, they have postponed all festivities for a few days. They will, however, attend the dinner that Mrs. Stilwell's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Ames, are giving Wednesday night for Miss Jane Schuttler and her fiancé, George R. Beach Jr., who are to be married Saturday in Wheaton; and the Stilwells will see a great many of their friends at the Schuttler-Beach wedding. Mrs. Stilwell's mother, Mrs. Adelaide S. Ames, was in town for a few days, but she has returned east to open her home, Green Gables, on Long Island for the summer months. As Mrs. Stilwell is still under contract with a movie studio in Hollywood, she probably will return west later to make some individual films.

Miss Harriet Daughaday and Miss Charlotte Chandler are two of last season's debutantes who attended the Amherst college senior prom last Friday night. Miss Chandler and Miss Daughaday are students at Smith college.

Miss Barbara Eldridge and her mother, Mrs. Harold Eldridge, are leaving by motor for Stamford, Conn., on June 2, to be away a fortnight or more. Miss Eldridge is making the trip to be a bridesmaid for Miss Jean Reynolds of Stamford, who will be married to Frederick Houghton on June 8.

CONQUERING CONTRACT

By P. HAL SIMS

DON'T GUESS ABOUT HANDS.

The Aggressives are ahead 100 points on the first three rubbers. They are also game in with 200 points, and have 300 points above the line. The Conservatives have 100 points above the line.

East [Mr. Aggressive] dealt today's hand. The bidding was passed around to Mr. Conservative in the North position, who opened with one no trump. This was his hand:

Sp.—A Q 7 4	Di.—K J 7 6
Ht.—A 5	Cl.—A J 10

East and West passed throughout. South responded with two hearts. This was her hand:

Sp.—9 6	Di.—A Q 5 4
Ht.—Q J 9 6 4 2	Cl.—Q

North jumped to three no trumps and South showed her diamond suit by bidding four diamonds. North bid five diamonds. South responded with five hearts. North's proper bid at this point is five no trumps, showing a strong desire to be the declarer, despite South's indication of two biddable suits. The hand must, of course, be played in a small slam after North's strong bidding. If North plays the hand at six no trumps, he will probably get either a spade or a club lead, and the contract cannot, then, be defeated. North, however, bid six hearts, wanting to show a fit in the heart suit as well as the diamond suit, and hoping for a grand slam contract. South thankfully passed, feeling that she had probably overbid her holdings.

West opened the nine of diamonds—evidently neither a singleton or a doubleton. Now I want you to study the two hands and figure out how you would play them to make a small slam. At first sight, this would seem to be a typical "guess" situation. You have a choice of two finesses—one in each of the black suits. You can afford to lose a trump trick, but you must manage to locate one of the black kings to make your contract.

There is also the matter of a trump finesse. South decided to take this chance, despite the risk of West's trumping a diamond return if the finesse lost. She laid down the queen of hearts, king covered and ace took on the board. Now the question of a trump trick shifted to the ten of hearts. South played a small heart from dummy and finessed the nine spot in her own hand. West took the trick with the ten and led a club. South studied a long time over this lead. She finally decided that West would not lead from the king of clubs. She went up with the ace in dummy, played the jack back and discarded a small spade from her own hand. West took the trick with the king of clubs. Mrs. Conservative at this point said, "Fudge!" violently and claimed the rest of the tricks.

The crucial play is on the third trick. South should not finesse the nine of hearts. Here are the possible trump situations: West has either four or five hearts to the king-ten—the contract cannot be made; East has four hearts to the ten spot—if East has also four diamonds, the hand can be couped. Naturally, one of the black finesses must work to make this play. If East has only three diamonds, but West has both the king of spades and the king of clubs, the hand can be couped. West has three hearts to the king-ten; a heart trick must be lost. West has the king-small of hearts, and East has three to the ten spot. By playing the jack of hearts, South can end play East later with the ten spot and force East to lead into either spades or clubs. Because West made a short suited opening, East's diamonds can be counted accurately and South can easily enough blank the East hand of diamonds. This play of the jack of hearts also takes care of the possibility that West has the king-ten of hearts alone. In other words, it offers two chances for success.

I should also believe that West had the king of spades from her club lead. Spades seem the more logical play if she wishes to put East in the lead. As a matter of fact, West had the king-ten of hearts alone, the king of clubs, the king of spades and a doubleton diamond. As the cards lie, South can make a grand slam at hearts. Instead, she lost fifty points by trying to guess out the hand.

"Home Frozen Delicacies," a booklet containing fifty recipes for refrigerator frozen and ice frozen desserts, is on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, One South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower, for 10 cents. By mail, 13 cents, stamps or coin. Address mail requests to Mary Meade, Chicago Tribune.

BY MARY MEADE.

Long before the boatmen's song publicized the Volga river, this river had another boast [besides being the longest in Europe]. On the banks of the Volga was first grown our friend rhubarb, more intimately known as "pie plant" in some localities.

"Rha" was the ancient name of the Volga. Thus, when this tinglingly flavored plant was found growing there it came to adopt the name rhubarb in honor of its birthplace. Today it grows in almost all of the countries of the world.

While we never heard of any one eating rhubarb leaves, it may be well to pass along a word of warning we recently read. Due to their high oxalic acid content, they may be extremely dangerous to the sensitive tissues of the kidneys and intestines, so end your appreciation of the plant at the end of the crisp pink stalk!

Two new and ever so good rhubarb delights are made with graham crackers. Send these tableward some time soon.

Rhubarb Custard Pie.

[With graham cracker crust.]

30 medium graham crackers, finely crushed
1 tablespoon melted butter
1 tablespoon sugar
2 tablespoons water

Blend these ingredients thoroughly for the crust. Pat firmly into the bottom and sides of a well greased pie pan and fill with

2 cups diced uncooked rhubarb
1 cup sugar
1 egg
2 tablespoons flour

Mix the rhubarb with the sugar, flour, and slightly beaten egg, and turn into the crust. Bake, covered, for 20 minutes, and uncovered for a second 20 minutes in a moderately hot oven, 375 degrees F.

Rhubarb Graham Betty.

6 tablespoons butter
20 medium graham crackers
6 tablespoons sugar
3 cups diced fresh rhubarb

Melt one tablespoon of the butter and mix with the coarsely crushed graham crackers. Place this mixture in layers with the sugar, fresh rhubarb, and remaining butter in a buttered baking dish. Top with a final layer of crums, dot with butter, and bake in a moderate oven for 45 minutes. Serve either hot or cold, with plain cream.

Another simple old favorite pudding, like the brown betty, welcomes the addition of the rosy rhubarb. Don't pass this by just because it sounds dull, because it really doesn't taste that way. Incidentally, although the recipe calls for the good old pearl tapioca [its clear, wavy texture is a nice change once in a while], it may be made just as well by substituting 1-3 cup of quick cooking tapioca and eliminating the soaking.

Rhubarb Tapioca Pudding.

2-3 cup pearl tapioca
1¼ cups boiling water
¼ teaspoon salt
3 cups diced rhubarb
1 1-3 cups sugar

Soak the tapioca, in cold water to cover, for one hour, then drain. Place in the top of a double boiler, add the boiling water and salt, and cook until all of the water has been absorbed. Add the diced rhubarb and sugar and continue cooking until the tapioca is transparent and the rhubarb soft. Serve cold, with cream.

Lightning.

BY NANCY CABOT.

Here is a block to delight the novice quilt makers, or one who hesitates to attempt an applique pattern. The patches may be of different colors of printed and plain material. Jagged flashes of blue, red, and yellow make most realistic lightning. The coverlet may be entirely of applique blocks or alternated with plain ones. The blocks are large, measuring 18 inches square when completed.

With her book of quilts, Nancy Cabot now offers 10 patterns of her own choice at a combination price of 10 cents (12 cents by mail). The booklet alone is 5 cents; by mail, 7 cents. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

Small Child's Freedom Must Be Restricted

Wise Care, Not Unbridled Liberty, His Need.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

"A close friend of mine," runs a letter, "has a dear little girl—at least she has all the 'makings' of a dear little girl—whom I love a great deal. But I am worried about her. She is growing wild and disobedient and inquisitive and self-conscious and even impudent. She keeps the house more or less in a turmoil most of the time.

"Her mother does absolutely nothing about all this. When any one remonstrates with her she says, 'O. I understand her. She'll outgrow all these ways.' But in the meantime every one is growing to dislike the child. What is your opinion about this mother's attitude on the 'outgrowing' idea?"

This wholesale application of the "outgrowing" theory may be easy and the line of least resistance for the mother, but it is hard on the child, and quite unfair to her.

There are things that we do know are phases and that are outgrown, only to be replaced by others. At the same time we work on those qualities to modify them, or try to direct that energy wisely, as, for example, we know there is a phase that children pass through of liking to use "strong language," or of telling fairy tales, or of dawdling interminably over dressing. We work on these even while we know they are not fundamental.

But the little girl who is described here is forming habits and attitudes toward others that are distinctly not good for her personally. When you add to this the fact that people are beginning to dislike and shun her the foolishness of her mother is apparent.

No young thing can grow in the right way untrained. Let us hope this mother will come to her senses.

We have several helpful booklets written in full, for the mothers of small boys and girls. When inclosing your stamped, self-addressed envelope be sure to specify with what phase of behavior you are having trouble, and the age of your child.

Earn Popularity by Studying the Attractive Girl

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"What does a girl have to do to make herself more attractive to boys?" asks Leede.

Our first suggestion would be to study the girls who do get on well with boys. You can absorb a great deal of useful information this way. We happened to note an occasion, the other day, from which a foolish girl might have learned something from the girl who used tactics quite different. The foolish one seemed bent on playing a certain boy up in a foolish light. She told an incident on him that she could just as well not have disclosed.

It wasn't important, anyway. But it made the boy writhe with embarrassment before the group. The nice girl, and the smarter one, came to the boy's rescue with a story about an occasion when he showed up advantageously. And we noticed the reaction in favor of this girl by all the other young men present, including the particular youth who was under fire momentarily.

Yes, we'd suggest to a girl wanting to make herself more attractive to a boy, to treat him always so that he shows up in an attractive light. Without gush, just stand behind him when the light is turned on him in a group.

Of course, a girl must get herself up just as attractively as her dress and cosmetic allowance will permit. Young men are quite expert in judging, yes, and in criticizing, the getup of girls. One doesn't have to be a beauty, but she has to turn herself out pretty smartly to meet the current demands. When one is young, this doesn't mean any large outlay of money. It's more the trimness and the neatness and the grooming, the biggest part of which one can attend with no money outlay at all.

The old point of view concerning rayons has gone the other extreme, for now no fabric is more highly regarded. Today it's smart to wear rayon, as every woman who appreciates fashion knows. The rayon crepes in this sale group are a telling reason for the popularity of these made-by-man materials. The clarity of the designs, the vividness of the colors and the fabric's soft, fine quality are reasons enough for immediate success. It's seldom one finds crepes like these at 65c yd.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., May 19.—The winning streak of John Henderson Whitehead, the White Sox pitching sensation, almost snapped in the ninth inning today. With a five run lead in the final inning he fell apart to climax a turbulent afternoon, but Whitlow Wyatt dashed to the rescue, set down two Boston batters, and saved the decision for the league leading westerners, 6 to 5. The rescue also saved Whitehead's string of consecutive victories, which now number six.

JOHN WHITEHEAD.

Until he was yanked for the first time in a major league game, the silent man from Texas had more troubles than a homeless dog. The eighth was the only inning in which he wasn't disturbed by one or more base runners. But with one exception, the sixth, he kept the enemy runners away from the plate. Then in the ninth, with a lead that appeared well beyond reach, he finally succumbed to poor control. His aim had been none too good from the very start.

Boston Uses Four Pitchers.

Happily for the preservation of Whitehead's undefeated record, his white hosed mates provided an attack that was amazing for its timeliness. It also was disastrous for four Boston mound workers. First to go was Henry Johnson, who was nicked for two runs in the third. Then Johnny Welch prospered until the sixth, when another scored. Next came Rube Walberg, who succumbed after a run in the eighth. And in the ninth two runs that weren't considered important at the time were registered against George Pipgras because of a batting conspiracy conducted by Al Simmons, Zeke Bonura, and Jim Dykes. The latter previously had figured in three scoring episodes.

Johnny Gets Wild.

Whitehead put himself on the slide in the ninth when he opened with a pass to Bishop. Werber dropped a hit in short right, Bishop taking third. He scored on Johnson's roller to Bonura. Cronin spanked a single to right and Werber ran home. When passes

GOLF FOR TODAY: U. S. OPEN TRIALS, BIG TEN TOURNEY

Two Meets Attract 174 Players.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

One hundred and seventy-four golfers, with a fine disdain for the weather man's promise of rain, will set forth today on separate lots in two of the most important tournaments of the Chicago district. At Kildeer, forty of them, representing the ten member schools of the Western conference, will open a two day struggle for the Big Ten individual and team titles, both now held by Michigan. The remaining 134 will conduct a 36 hole argument at Medinah for the 14 places allotted to the district by the United States Golf association for the national open tournament to be decided at Oakmont, Pa., on June 6, 7, and 8.

The Big Ten tournament is on time, as scheduled, but the national open trials are a week late. Scheduled for last Monday along with 24 other qualifying tests throughout the country, the rounds over the No. 1 and No. 3 courses of the big west side club were postponed because of a cloudburst which deluged both courses and made them unplayable.

Stars Forced to Qualify.

The trials at Medinah, even though a week tardy, still command the largest share of attention of any district in the country, and for more than one reason. Chicago led entries for the open with 135, and were granted 14 places, more than any other U. S. G. A. center. More important, however, is the fact that several of the game's biggest names are being forced to qualify because of having failed to finish among the first 30 scorers and ties in last year's open at Philadelphia.

Leading these is Tommy Armour of the home club, who has never had to go through the qualifying mill. With him is Denny Shute of Westward-Ho, 1933 British open champion, who is being forced to work in a sectional test for the first time since he turned professional. Still others who will be out today fighting for a place in the open proper are Dick Metz of A. D. Lasker's private course, Frank Walsh of Bryn Mawr, Jimmy Foulis of Ruth Lake, and Jim Noonan of Lansing Airport.

Michigan Is Team to Beat.

The Big Ten battle at Kildeer will be unusual in that it will be the first tournament in years at which every member school is represented by a team. Nine of those teams will be struggling to do something they haven't been able to do for the last three years—the task of whipping Michigan. The Wolverines, who last year became the first western school in the 28 year history of the national intercollegiate to win the team title in that event, have won both team and individual crowns in the Big Ten since 1931, when Illinois and Dick Martin crashed through.

There seems no reason why the Wolverines shouldn't walk away with both titles again in this year's meet, which will open with 36 holes of medal play today and end with 36 more tomorrow. The Ann Arbor quartet includes Johnny Fischer, Charley Kocsis, Woodrow Malloy, and Capt. Clarence Markham. Fischer has held the national intercollegiate crown, won the Big Ten individual title in 1932 and 1933, and then withdrew from school last year to compete overseas with the American Walker cup team. His place was ably taken by Kocsis, who ran off with the title, Malloy finishing as runner-up. With Fischer back this year, the Wolverines are looked upon as certain winners of their fourth straight double victory.

New York, May 19.—(AP)—The Scottish Football association's picked team won its second victory in as many days today, defeating a selected eastern squad, 5 to 1, before a crowd of 32,784 at the Polo Grounds. The Scots had a 3-1 advantage at half time.

Talking It Over

[Copyright: 1935: By The Chicago Tribune.]

NORTHWESTERN and Chicago, at odds for 10 years over the matter of playing football with each other, may arrange a game for 1937 at the schedule meeting in Ann Arbor Friday. . . . Reports to the contrary notwithstanding, the alumni of both institutions favor resumption of relations. . . . Athletic departments of both schools are in financial straits and a renewal of the one time colorful series would help greatly in balancing budgets. . . . When Boston fans recently booed Joe Cronin when he booted three grounders his wife left her seat in tears. . . . Bill Terry, manager of the Giants, has been promoted from the choir to passer of the collection box at his church when he is home in Memphis. . . . Saginaw, Mich., High school has a colored track athlete, Bill Watson, who is said to be as good an all around performer as Willis Ward was when he arrived at Ann Arbor. . . . Watson high jumps 6 feet 2 inches, broad jumps more than 22 feet, and runs the 100 in ten flat. . . . He plans to go to Michigan. . . . Gene McDonald, radio manufacturer, has a gadget on his boat, the Mizpah, that throws small clay pigeons. . . . When the waves are rolling the boat enough to make the game interesting he invites guests to the top deck to shoot at the targets.

Joe Gould, manager of Jim Braddock, got control of the heavyweight title challenger in a strange manner. . . . Gould once had a fighter named Harry Galfund he was trying to peddle to two prospective purchasers for a sizable sum. He took them to the gymnasium to show them what Galfund could do. . . . He asked Braddock, then just out of the amateur ranks, to spar a few rounds with Galfund. . . . Braddock knocked him out in the second round and Gould signed him to a contract. He has managed him ever since. . . . Kenny Bennett, former Indiana university football player, now runs his own newspaper in Linton, Ind. . . . Ben Eastman will run only one race this season. . . . That will be in the national collegiate half-mile. . . . If Barney Ross wants a chance to regain his vacated lightweight title while Tony Canzoneri holds the championship he will have to fight for 12½ per cent, according to Sam Goldman, Tony's manager. . . . Ross was given 20 per cent the night he wrested the crown from Canzoneri at Chicago Stadium two years ago.

No fewer than eight times this season, counting spring training, Bill Jurges and Augie Galan, who are roommates and pals, have let pop flies drop between them for base hits, much to the distress of certain Cub pitchers. . . . Vice President Grimm attributes the misplays to the fact that Augie has a squeaky voice and can't make Bill hear him. . . . Scores of Detroit golf fans were overcome last week when they learned that Walter Hagen actually had gone out and practiced for an hour. . . . It was the first time in years that Hagen had been guilty of any such toil, a fact borne out later by a blister on his thumb. . . . Noble Kizer of Purdue recently recalled a ballot taken among members of the first team at Notre Dame just before the final game in which the Four Horsemen competed. . . . The question was: "Which is the more valuable to the team, the line or the back field?" . . . The line won, seven votes to four. . . . Kizer, if your memory has failed you, played in the line. . . . The white ring on which the batter awaiting his turn is supposed to squat is merely a decoration at Comiskey park insofar as most of the Sox are concerned. . . . Jackie Hayes is the only member who uses it. . . . The rest kneel in front, rear, or at either side. . . . Jimmy Evans, former Northwestern football guard, conducts a sports program over a Chicago radio station.

Ten Years Ago Today—George Sisler went hitless for the first time in thirty-five games. . . . The White Sox defeated Boston, 10 to 7, and moved into third place. . . . Phil Rosenberg and Harold Smith finished training for their ten round bout at East Chicago. . . . Glenna Collett lost to Joyce Wethered, 4 and 3, in the third round in the British women's tournament.

In the Wake of the News

SENTIMENT FOR ITALIANS.

IT is surprising how many persons, regular Golden Gloves patrons, are pulling for the Italians to win, or at least tie, in the fifth international bouts against Chicagoland representatives at the Stadium Wednesday night.

Such sentiment is not hostility toward the home team nor dissatisfaction with its accomplishments. Except by those of Italian ancestry, it is not alone admiration for the sons of Italy. It is the old American sports custom of pulling for the supposed under dog. Whether the visitors actually are under dogs in this instance is a moot question.

Chicagoland boxers have international victories to their credit over France, Ireland, Poland, and a tie with Germany. Consequently nonpartisans figure Italian success would be to the best interest of sport.

It is possible for any one to feel somewhat that way about it, like the saner alumni of a consistently successful football team. They do not wish to see their eleven beaten, could not pick out any single game they would like to drop, but if such mishap occurred they could bear it with equanimity.

That's the way The Wake feels about these fifth international bouts. One can't associate with boys in their training, know their ambitions, and wish them to lose. That simply isn't human nature if one has any human nature. But if Italians should prove stronger and earn victory, it would add to the interest of future tourneys as well as furnish extra stimulation for Chicagoland teams.

As an honest and not hypocritical sporting gesture, one will not begrudge the boys from the land of Mussolini whatever success they attain.

It was a meeting of the Junior Auxiliary of the Evanston Infant Welfare society. Financial reports of the profits from the recent stratosphere ball at the Drake and subsequent rummage sale in Evanston had been read. Business was over. GOLDEN GLOVERS TAKE LAST DRILL FOR ITALY TODAY

Chicago Squad Sees Cubs on Day of Rest.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Chicago's Golden Gloves team, which meets the champions of Italy in the fifth international amateur boxing bouts Wednesday night at the Stadium, will be sent through its final workout this afternoon at the Illinois Athletic club. Tomorrow there will be no training activities other than a morning jaunt and brief setting up drills in the afternoon. The problem for the coaches then will resolve into how best to keep the boys' minds occupied through the hours until they are called to defend Chicago's international championship.

None of the boys are troubled by the specter of making weight. Most of them are at weight or within easy distance, requiring no more than strict attention to diet. Weighing in ceremonies are scheduled for 12:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon after which the boys will return to their quarters at the Illinois Athletic club for their only heavy meal before the matches.

Boxers See Cubs Play.

Yesterday was definitly a day of rest for the Chicago fighters who have not missed a day's training since they reported May 8. The rest was decreed following the stretch drive Saturday afternoon which produced the best boxing of the training period. It eased the tension that slowly had gathered. To further this letup the entire squad attended the Cubs-Philadelphia baseball game at Wrigley field. The boys and their coaches were guests of the Cubs' management.

The "No Road Work" sign was hung up in the morning and as a result the boys slept later than usual. Most of them attended church services. Their late breakfasts made it advisable to alter the other hours for meals. Several skipped lunch, among them Al Nettlow, the featherweight who probably will be assigned the task of whipping Giuseppe Farfanelli, Italian 126 pound champion from Perugia, who has won 66 bouts in 70 and 20 of them by knockouts.

Back on Schedule Today.

Today's training will be back on schedule with a brisk run at 6 a. m. and boxing at 2:30 in the afternoon. Tomorrow evening the usual late hour of retirement on the eve of the bouts, about 11:30 will be permitted. The boys will attend a loop show with their coaches and then will be taken to their quarters. The coaches have found the boys will sleep later on the morning of the bouts if allowed to remain up later the previous night. They thus have less time to worry before assembling to weigh in.

A meeting of the judges and referees and officials of both teams will be held tomorrow noon at the Medinah. It already has been agreed that the boxers will follow the international rule and wear light jersies as well as trunks. Eight ounce boxing gloves will be their fighting equipment. The meeting tomorrow largely will be confined to discussion of the system of scoring points by which winners are determined.

All 16 of the Chicago boxers will weigh in and remain in training until after the bouts. Thus the Chicago team is protected in event of illness to the boxer originally named in each weight class.

Chicago will see the best international bouts since the tournament was inaugurated in 1931 with the French champions as opponents, Count Francesco di Campello, vice president of the Italian Boxing federation, who is in charge of the Italian boxers, has said of the impending matches:

"I know that Chicago has a great boxing team. But if Chicago can whip the Italian boys, it will know, without question, that it has the best team in the world."

Crowd of 21,000 Expected.

Excellent seats in the $3.30 and $2.20 sections remain. They are on sale at The Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn streets and in the lobby of Tribune Tower and at the Chicago Stadium. Tickets also may be purchased fro mthe office of the ticket manager, room 530, Tribune Tower.

When Binazzi, Italian Welter, Hits 'Em, They Remember It!

BY FRANK CIPRIANI.

Otello Binazzi's sparring partner climbed out of the ring of the Medinah Club of Chicago gymnasium after a fast three round workout yesterday. He was short winded and was puffing. His face showed crimson blotches where Binazzi's gloved fists had landed. His left eye was half closed.

"That guy sure can hit," he observed more in sorrow than in anger.

Whether Binazzi, classy welterweight on the Italian champion amateur boxing team, can really hit will be determined more fully Wednesday night when he and his seven compatriots clash with Chicagoland's amateur champions in the fifth annual International Golden Gloves bouts at the Chicago Stadium. But the assumption is that he carries a bit of dynamite in either fist. At least his sparring partner thinks so.

OTELLO BINAZZI.

Like Schmeling, Germans Say.

Binazzi has enjoyed a rather successful career in European rings, and is especially popular in Germany, where sports writers call him the "Italian Schmeling." This is indeed a high attestation to his fistic ability, for Max Schmeling, ex-world's heavyweight champion, is the idol of millions of Germans.

Italy's welterweight began fighting six years ago, when he was only 14 years old, and since then has participated in 28 international competitions in 20 different countries. He has engaged in 130 bouts and won 109 of them, 27 by knockouts. In 16 others he floored his opponent. He lost 12 fights on points, and drew in 9 others.

Determined to Win.

His best fights were against Kartz, German runner up in the world Olympics contests, and Kugler, also a German, the European welter champion. The records show that Binazzi sent Kartz to the canvas for a 7 count, and Kugler to the canvas for a 4 count. Schmeling witnessed both these contests, and was quoted in the German press praising Binazzi.

Young Binazzi is not cocky over his pugilistic prowess. In fact, none of the boys is boastful. They are quietly determined to give their best efforts. They realize, however, their task Wednesday night is not an easy one, and will call for all their skill, power and courage. Binazzi probably expressed the squad's sentiments best when he said:

"Io daro tutto per vincere." ["I will give everything to win."]

And as Mario Anniballi, the light heavyweight, echoed:

"Anche Io." [Also I."]

Beaten Only Five Times.

This Anniballi, handsomest man on the team, is no slouch either, when it comes to slinging gloves. He rates as one of the finest light heavyweights in Europe. He is more the boxer than the slugger, although his knockout record is perhaps the best of the entire squad. Only 20, he has been boxing five years, and in that time has engaged in fifty-six bouts, winning all but five. Fourteen of his victories were knockouts. In eight other fights he scored knockdowns. The five fights he did not win ended in three defeats on points and two draws. He has fought in four international tournaments in Ireland, France, Germany, and Switzerland.

Anniballi's boxing career was influenced six years ago by a neighborhood bully in Rome who sent him home with two black eyes. The youngster brooded over the licking, and determined to get revenge. He joined an amateur boxing organization. Almost a year to the day later he met the neighborhood roughneck who had blackened his eyes, and evened up the score with a vengeance. It was the first time the bully had been subdued, and it gave Anniballi further incentive to develop himself in the ring.

Is Law Student.

However, he could not box as frequently as he desired. First he had to assist his father in the meat business, and second he had to devote himself to his law studies. Anniballi is a law student, and will be graduated in two years. Nevertheless, he always managed to appear where the bouts meant something.

One of those bouts took place in Zurich last summer when he was matched against von Borel, Swiss champion, who had previously defeated Michelot, the French light heavyweight champion of Europe. No one believed that the Italian law student could handle von Borel, and odds against him were high. But Anniballi fooled everybody. He gave von Borel the worst beating of his career, and was carried from the ring on the shoulders of a cheering mob.

"My family really does not enjoy the fact that I box," said Anniballi. "They want me to study to be a good lawyer. But they realize boxing is good rather than harmful, and want me to win as long as I'm in it. When I left for Chicago they told me, 'Don't come home if you lose.' I expect to go home."

Tough Job, Mario!

If Anniballi draws Clinton Bridges, the Chicago colored boy, as his opponent, as he probably will, he is scheduled to have one of the toughest fights of the night on his hands. The question is whether the Italian is strong enough. Bridges is one of the best men on the Chicago squad, and some experts are inclined to give him a theoretical edge. It all depends on how well he can avoid Anniballi's smashing lefts to the body and jolting rights to the chin.

In his workouts Anniballi has shown exceptional speed. This is one of the several noticeable features about the entire squad. Hugo Angelo Saruggia, the Milanese truck driver, who must have his Chianti "vino" at every meal, and who furthermore is permitted double portions of food, has revealed a facility for stepping in and out that belies his bulk. Mostly he steps in—with terrific punches. Augusto Bonadio, Turin motor plant worker, is also fast. In addition, all show fine strength.

Take Black Eye Census.

Last evening each of the eight boys went through five three-minute rounds, each with his own sparring mate, and when it was over one broken nose and six discolored—or black—eyes were counted. All belonged to sparring mates.

2,000 at Party

MORE than 2,000 attended a dance given by the order of the Sons of Italy in honor of the Italian amateur boxing team at the Medinah club last night. The fighters appeared only long enough to greet their hosts and to accept medals from the order.

Easy for West Siders!

Beginning at 10 o'clock this morning tickets for the international Golden Gloves fights between the champions of Italy and the champions of Chicagoland will be on sale at Gate 2 (Madison street) of the Chicago Stadium, where the bouts will be held Wednesday night.

Tickets also can be obtained at the Tribune Public Service office, One South Dearborn street, and at Tribune Tower all day today and up until 10 o'clock tonight.

A few thousand choice seats remain. They are priced at $3.30 and $2.20 and all are reserved.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Lou Chiozza, with his bloomers full of bench splinters, and old Syl Johnson, whose talents have faded so much that his name no longer is carried in the Who's Who book of regulars, brilliantly swung into action yesterday, much to the distress of the Cubs. Their superlative performances form almost the entire story of how the Phillies made it two straight from the proud Chicagoans, 3 to 2.

SYLVESTER JOHNSON.

Chiozza's part was to slam a homer off Lon Warneke with two on in the third inning, after the Cubs had pushed off with a two run lead in the first inning. Johnson's part was to blind the Chicago hopefuls with his artistry to the extent of ten strikeouts after relieving Roy Prim with two out in the first inning.

Mr. Watkins Was Present.

Aiding Chiozza and Johnson in their heroic tableau was George Watkins, who made three hits off Warneke, including a triple. George opened the third with the first hit off Warneke. Then, with one out, Johnson also singled. Thus was the way paved for Chiozza to do his stuff. That was the one big Philly offensive surge of the day. Warneke never was in danger thereafter, except when Watkins almost succeeded in stealing home after tripling in the seventh.

So much for the batting. Here's about Mr. Johnson, an old enemy of the Cubs, who was born on the last day of 1900:

Johnson stepped into the arena after Prim, a lefty, had made pretty much of a mess of things. After Galan struck out on three pitches a walk to Herman, a single by Demaree, an infield out by English and a double by Stainback netted two runs. Another walk finished Prim and Johnson came in to walk Hartnett and load the bases. Then old Syl fanned Jurges, No. 1 on his list of strikeout victims.

Speed Merchants Flop.

After that the Cubs never had a look-in except that Galan managed to excite the 8,500 customers when he tripled with two down in the ninth.

Johnson seemed to pick on the youthful members of the Cubs cast while on his strikeout jag. He fanned Galan once, just as Prim had done. He fanned Cavarretta once. But those weren't the instances where he showed his greatest brutality.

Demaree and Stainback had been put in the opening lineup that their speed might be utilized. Frank and George utilized their speed on the bases while Prim was pitching. While Johnson was pitching they used it to run back to the dugout to inquire whatinhell Johnson was throwing past them.

Frankie fanned three straight times. So did George. Stainback is the one that got a foul. He got it on the first ball Johnson pitched to him in the eighth.

Yes, Mr. Klein, Too.

This record is not to suggest that Vice President Grimm made a mistake by not using Chuck Klein instead of Frankie or George. Chuck batted for Warneke in the ninth and he became the tenth Johnson and eleventh Philly strikeout victim.

The Cubs' first inning heroics ended with the bases full and Jurges striking out. After Galan had failed to offer at any of three straight strikes, Herman walked. Demaree, making his first appearance since his illness, singled to left, putting Herman on third and took second when the play was made on Herman. English grounded to Chiozza, Herman scoring and Demaree taking third, after which Stainback doubled to right, scoring Demaree. Cavarretta walked and this

INDIANS DEFEAT YANKEES, 1-0, IN ELEVEN INNINGS

Stewart Has Better of Duel with Ruffing.

New York, May 19.—(AP)—Walter Stewart, making his first start for the Indians, hooked up in a pitchers' duel with Charley Ruffing before 27,537 fans today and pitched Cleveland to a 1 to 0 victory over the Yankees for their first triumph of the series. By winning, the Indians returned to second place in the standing, while the Yanks dropped to third.

Ruffing yielded six hits and fanned eight. Willie Kamm led off the final inning with his third single. Lou Berger got credit for a hit when Red Rolfe and Bill Dickey collided going after his bunt. Milt Galatzer, batting for Brenzel, drew a pass to fill the bases. Another pinch hitter, Bruce Campbell, drove a long fly to Chapman to score Kamm with the only run of the game.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 19.—(AP)—A home run over the right field fence by Roger Cramer in the seventh inning gave the Athletics their third straight victory over the St. Louis Browns here today, 6 to 5. A crowd of 8,000 saw the game.

The Browns got off to an early lead, due chiefly to Benton's generosity with passes. The first man up in each of the first three innings walked and scored.

ACHING MUSCLES

Muscle (A) due to strain, cold or unusual exertion, feels like a bad bruise. Your nerves telegraph for help. Blood rushes to the distressed spot. But nature needs outside help to supply enough blood to clear up painful congestion quickly.

Minit-Rub is applied to the skin:

1. Its heat-inducing ingredients immediately penetrate to affected parts, quickly causing extra blood to be drawn to the pain area. Thus the congestion is relieved and any poisonous wastes are carried off through the blood vessels (B). (Several applications may be necessary in severe cases).
2. At the same time, Minit-Rub's pain-dulling ingredients soothe the surface ends of the troubled nerves (C).

Use Minit-Rub for quick relief of Sore Muscles, Bruises, Rheumatic Aches and Pains, Sprains, Stiffness, Strains. 35¢ and 60¢.

St. Louis, Mo., May 19.—(AP)—Dizzy Dean, pitching despite a slight knee injury, turned in his fifth victory of the season today as the world champion Cardinals defeated the Boston Braves, 7 to 3, in their series final before 12,000.

Dean held the Braves to seven hits and put the finishing stitches on his own triumph by taking the leading role in the four run Cardinal rally in the eighth inning.

Ruth made a brilliant left hand running catch of Collins' drive in the first inning, but was ineffectual at the plate and retired in the eighth. His teammate, Randy Moore, knocked a homer in the opening inning. Score:

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 19.—(AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates took a free hitting contest from the Brooklyn Dodgers, today, 9 to 6, enabling the home team to break even in the four game series.

Pie Traynor and Babe Herman both took a turn at playing first base after Gus Suhr suffered a thumb injury in the seventh. Suhr has played 505 consecutive games, a new National league record. The wound was merely a split nail, and the veteran expects to be back on the job tomorrow. Herman had one error and one putout, but Pie didn't have a play.

Aided by Kampouris' homer over the left field wall, the Reds piled up all their runs in the sixth inning to tie the score. The tie was broken in the tenth with Terry's double, Ott's sacrifice, and Leiber's single. Score:

Sox Defeat Boston, 6-5; Scare in 9th

to Rick Ferrell and Reynolds filled the bases Manager Dykes decided to act. He called in Wyatt.

The rescuer fairly blew two strikes past Almada, but the next pitch was banged into center for a single. Cronin and R. Ferrell scoring and Reynolds halting at second. Then Wyatt went to work in earnest. With his amazing speed ball he fanned Dahlgren. Wes Ferrell was trotted forth to bat for Pipgras. He fouled off several and then rolled to Hayes for the final out.

The White Sox did enough at bat in the second to warant a run, but were foiled by their own strategy. Haas led off with a single to right and the hit and run was attempted, but Appling missed the ball and Haas was nailed going into second. Appling later rolled out to Bishop. Dykes walked and went to third on Sewell's single to right. Whitehead followed with a pop to Werber.

The production of two Chicago runs and the removal of Johnson in the third was started on a single to left by Radcliff, who was shoved to second on Hayes' bunt. Radcliff scored on Simmons' left field drive. Bonura popped to short, after which Johnson lost control. He walked Haas, Appling, and Dykes in succession, forcing Simmons to score. Then Welch was hustled to Johnson's rescue and he induced Sewell to fly to Bishop.

Whitehead's Hit Scores Boss.

Dykes dented the left field wall for two bases to open the sixth and this time Welch didn't have the same luck as in the Simmons case mentioned above. Dykes scooted to third on Sewell's roller to Bishop. The infield close in, expecting that Whitehead would hit something on which Dykes could be cut down at the plate. Instead Dykes scored easily when Whitehead whistled a single past Welch.

Whitehead had two men out of the way in the home sixth before the Red Sox busied themselves in the scoring of one run. Reynolds tapped to the pitcher and Almada looked at a third strike. Dahlgren picked out a slow curve and whacked it safely to left. The ball bounced past Radcliff for a double. Miller batted for Welch and beat out a slow roller toward Dykes. Bishop's line single to right sent Dahlgren home and put Miller on third. Werber bounced to Appling to conclude the inning.

Radcliff Cracks Double.

The Chicago fellows were lenient with Walberg in the seventh but shook him up for a run in the eighth. Dykes started this by singling to center on his old Athletic pal after Appling had popped out. Dykes was forced on Sewell's fly which Werber dropped but recovered in time to make the play at second. Whitehead walked. Then Radcliff, to show his lack of respect for southpaws, doubled to left. The hit scored Sewell and put Whitehead on third. Hayes rolled out to Dahlgren.

As soon as Pipgras showed up for work in the ninth the Chicago fellows got busy again. Simmons hit the wall in left center for a double. He scored on Bonura's looping double over first base. Haas and Appling couldn't assist, but Dykes singled over short and Bonura hiked home with the sixth run.

The Chicago Mills semi-pro baseball team opened its home season by dividing a double-header with the Chicago Firemen at Mills stadium yesterday. Russell Bowers pitched the Mills to victory in the first game, 6 to 3, while the Firemen pounded four Mills pitchers for a 15 to 10 triumph in the second game. Scores:

Phils Defeat Warneke, 3-2, on Home Run caused Prim to be excused. Johnson came in and walked Hartnett, filling the bases. Then Jurges whiffed.

Watkins was the first Phil to get on base. He knocked a line single to center to open the third inning. Haslin was called out on strikes, but Johnson singled to right, Watkins stopping at second. Chiozza then socked his homer into the right field bleacher, scoring Watkins and Johnson. Lon had made no homers previously this season, and the three runs he drove in lifted his total for the season to nine. Allen was thrown out by Jurges and Moore filed to Galan.

With one out in the seventh, Watkins knocked his third straight hit, a triple to center. He held third while English threw out Haslin. Watkins tried to steal home after two strikes had been called on Johnson but was tagged out by Hartnett.

Johnson kept right on grinding in the eighth. He whiffed Stainback for the third straight time, again on three pitches. George showed marked improvement this time, however, for he got a foul on the first pitch. Camilli made a nice grab of Cavarretta's line drive and Hartnett filed to Moore.

Hack batted for Jurges in the ninth and fouled to Vergez. Klein batted for Warneke and became Johnson's No. 10 swinging chump. Galan tripled to left center, but Herman popped to Haslin to end the game.

Strikes in One Sport Enough for Whitehead

Boston, Mass., May 19.—[Special.]—John H. Whitehead, the pitching sensation of the White Sox, is not going to do any more bowling. The urging of his mates last night induced him to join them in a game of pony ball. He had never played it, but was willing to accommodate. Today his legs were stiff and full of aches, due to exercise to which he wasn't accustomed. His physical condition was what wore him down and caused him to be banished in the ninth inning of today's game with Boston after going through five complete games. He confessed the cause of it all after one of his teammates asked him why he was limping.

Braves Bring Old Babe Ruth to Town Today

The Boston Braves come to town today for a three game series. Whether or not the games are played, Babe Ruth will be available for interviews as to whether he is going to retire. It will be the first time Ruth has been at Wrigley field since the world series of 1932, when his bat played a big part in the defeat of the Cubs by the Yanks.

Dutch Brandt is scheduled to pitch for the Braves. Tex Carleton, who beat the Braves six times last year and once this season, will work for the Cubs.

SNOWBERGER AND ROSE QUALIFY AT INDIANAPOLIS

Times for Trials Are Far Short of Record.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 19.—(AP)—Mauri Rose, Dayton, O., driver, and Russell Snowberger, Philadelphia, qualified for the 500 mile speedway race late today. A slippery track and occasional rain kept others from attempting qualification runs.

Rose drove his four cylinder car around the track at an average of 116.470 miles an hour for the 25 mile test. Snowberger made the distance at 114.209 miles an hour. The Dayton driver was second to Bill Cummings in the race here last May. Snowberger finished eighth.

Their times for the tryout were behind that of Kelly Petillo, Los Angeles, who broke the speedway mark yesterday when he averaged 121.687 miles per hour.

Petillo, however, failed to qualify his car as it used one and five-eighths pints more gasoline than the rules allow. The time trial limit is three gallons and one pint.

Thirty-three cars will be permitted to start in the race. There are 58 entries, and the fastest will be eligible. Of the eleven cars qualified, nine are four cylinder creations. Snowberger and Hepburn have eight cylinder models.

TWO YACHTS TIE FOR LEAD OVER MODEL COURSE

Eight yachts competed at the Chicago Model Yacht club yesterday, three finishing with 20 points each. Jim Palmer's class A model Mildred II. and Orville Sonntag's Monsoon, however, were declared tied for first place.

The race was held at the model pool, 51st street and Leif Ericson drive. Palmer's Mildred II. nosed out Commodore Tom Malloy's America by one second. A moderate north breeze prevailed during the meet.

Due to the Monsoon and Mildred II.'s winning more windward runs than O. Torgersen's Peggy, which also had 20 points, the two were declared tied. Two other boats were tied, further complicating the scores. The Pirouette and Stag III., owned by Commodore Fred Lippold and Ray Palmer, respectively, had 19 points each.

Yesterday's race was the second elimination event for the midwest championship. Mildred II., winner in the first race also, is leading with 38 points.

WAGGONERS WIN; LON WARNEKE'S BROTHER HURT

The Waggoners Stations yesterday scored a 3 to 0 victory over the Frank Zintaks in a Midwest league baseball game at McKinley park. Al Warneke, brother of Pitcher Lon Warneke of the Cubs, was injured during the game. While sitting on the Waggoners bench, Warneke was struck in the head by a foul ball. At first it was feared his condition was serious, but he recovered before the game ended.

Braun Bros. Oilers, 7; Chicago Heights A. A., 2.
Raab Tailors, 7; Bush Furniture, 5.
St. Celestines, 3; Illinois Giants, 2.
Winiecki Cragins, 8; Austin Merchants, 0.

Sparta Holds Maccabees to 2 to 2 Deadlock

BY OFFSIDE.

Sparta, National Professional Soccer league champion, yesterday battled the Maccabees to a 2 to 2 tie at Kuppenheimer stadium. The contest was played in the interests of the league benefit fund.

The Maccabees started fast and within one minute Waldron scored from a penalty kick, prior to which Rezek was called for handling. Fifteen minutes later, Campbell broke through the Sparta defense and sent the ball whizzing past Goalie Burda for the second goal.

Sparta began its drive shortly after the second half opened, Vleck connecting on a close-in shot. The teams then fought on even terms until near the close of the game. With ten minutes to play, Sparta tied the score. Vleck took a cross from Von Drasek and headed the ball past Goalie Fisher into the net.

Rightmire and Henry Hook to Fight Tonight

Everett Rightmire of Sioux City and Henry Hook of Indianapolis will be principals in the eight round windup at Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street, in the only boxing show on tonight's schedule. Inability to arrange a match between Eddie Vik and George Engel caused Promoter Johnny Coulon to cancel the card scheduled at Midway arena tonight.

The Hook-Rightmire encounter appears to be one of the best arranged by Promoter Maurice Rivkin this season. Though Rightmire may outweigh his opponent and his record is more impressive, some fans are of the opinion Everett will take his first setback since his defeat by Leo Rodak at Wrigley field last September. Veteran observers think otherwise, however. They point out that a good boxer like Rightmire, nine time out of ten, is victorious over a slugger such as Hook.

An attractive supporting match will involve Bob Tinsley, west side lightweight, and Johnny Fitzpatrick, who has extended a number of prominent boxers, at four rounds.

Sammy Guidara vs. Willie Dudlack [6], featherweights.
Mickey O'Shea vs. Joe Cieslak [4], welterweights.
Bobby O'Dowd vs. Bobby Allen [4], featherweights.
John Silvey vs. Ralph Garibaldi [wrestling].

George Van Der Hayden, Catholic Youth organization 135 pound fighter, and Johnny Fitzpatrick expect to meet for ten rounds at South Bend, Ind., June 7.

Sam Plan, co-manager with Art Winch, has called off Davey Day's scheduled match with Steve Halaiko, Syracuse, N. Y., on the Ross-McLarnin welterweight championship card at New York Tuesday of next week. . . . Jackie Sharkey, Chicago, and Louis Camps, New York, most likely will collide in a preliminary to the Ross-McLarnin contest. . . . George Lavas, middleweight, who fought with a measure of success in the 1933 Golden Gloves tournament, has placed his training under the direction of Dick Mastro.

Joe Louis' managers, Julian Black and John Roxborough, have named Dr. Bier's Pompton, Lakes, N. J., resort as the former Golden Gloves champion's training camp for his 15 round heavyweight title elimination bout with Primo Carnera at New York June 25.

Pete Lello, George Latka, William Schraum, Danny Villa, Jack Brower, Orville Eighmy, George Nelson, Frank Noto, Charles Wentworth, Philip Saeli, and Henry Pack are included among the sixteen boxers who will compete in the amateur show Wednesday at the 124th Field Artillery armory.

Pro League May Have Only Nine Elevens

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 19.—(AP)—The National professional football league will consist of nine teams next fall, officials decided today, unless St. Louis and Cincinnati settle their financial affairs and decide which city will enter the tenth squad.

The teams sure to play are the Chicago Bears, Chicago Cardinals, Detroit Lions, Green Bay [Wis.] Packers, Boston Redskins, New York Giants, Brooklyn Dodgers, Pittsburgh Pirates, and Philadelphia Eagles.

St. Louis took over the Cincinnati franchis in midseason last year, but got into financial difficulties. Cincinnati is now seeking the franchise again.

The moguls decided to give Myron Greentree, representing the Cincinnati club, ten days to settle the squabble. If no agreement is reached, the franchise will be forfeited and the league will operate with nine teams.

JUDGE DUNNE NAMED MAROON NEW LINE COACH

Municipal Judge Robert Jerome [Duke] Dunne has been appointed line coach of the University of Chicago football team, it was disclosed yesterday when Nelson Metcalf, Maroon athletic director, made public the list of football assistants at the Midway for next autumn. Judge Dunne, a former Michigan star, will specialize in developing the guards and tackles.

Ell Patterson, captain of the 1934 team and its most valuable player, has been appointed to coach the center candidates, both varsity and freshman, and two of Patterson's contemporaries, John Baker and Tommy Flinn, have been made assistant freshman coaches.

Judge Dunne has had four years of collegiate playing experience and nine years of coaching experience. He played with the Wolverines from 1918 to 1921, inclusive [the 1918 S. A. T. C. season not being counted as conference competition], and captained the team in 1921. He was line coach at Northwestern from 1923 to 1925, and at Harvard from 1926 to 1930.

In addition to Dunne, Shaughnessy's assistants with the varsity next fall will be Otto Strohmeier, working with the ends; Julian Lopez, with the backs; Ell Patterson, with centers, and Kyle Anderson, with reserves. Nelson Norgren again will be head freshman coach, aided by Robert Deem, working with guards and tackles; John Baker with ends, and Tommy Flinn, backs.

LOU GEHRIG, home-run star of the N. Y. Yankees, has played in more than 1500 big league games without a single "day off." Such an athletic achievement takes "wind"—healthy nerves—"condition." Lou says: "For steady smoking I pick Camels. They're so mild they never get my 'wind' or my nerves."

"THEY DON'T GET YOUR WIND" ATHLETES SAY

So mild, athletes smoke as many as they please—and that's real mildness!

Of course you want mildness in a cigarette. And the athletes—to whom "wind," healthy nerves, "condition" are vitally important—these men and women insist on mildness. Not just a mild taste—but mildness in fact.

Lou Gehrig says: "For steady smoking I choose Camels. Why? Because Camels are so mild they never get my 'wind.' And I ought to know. I haven't missed a ball game with the Yanks since 1925."

Other stars noted for their "condition" agree. George Barker, intercollegiate cross-country champion, says: "Camels are so mild, they don't cut my 'wind' in any way." Bobby Walthour, Jr., star of the six-day bike grinds, says: "I've got to have 'wind' in bike racing. For my cigarette I long ago chose Camels."

Tommy Armour, speaking for the golf stars, Bruce Barnes for tennis, and Betty Bailey for the aquatic sports—all agree: "Camels don't get your 'wind.'"

What this mildness means to you!

It means you can smoke as many Camels as you please. Athletes say Camel's costlier tobaccos never disturb your nerves—never tire your taste—never get your "wind."

GOOD NEWS!

Most of the pleasant things in life are doubly pleasant when you're "in condition." That's why it's such good news to hear that Camel's costlier tobaccos are so mild you can smoke all you please. Athletes say Camels never get your "wind."

SO MILD YOU CAN SMOKE ALL YOU WANT!

Camels COSTLIER TOBACCOS!

● Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS—Turkish and Domestic—than any other popular brand.

HOMEWOOD BUSY PLACE AS TURF GREATS GATHER

Train There for Illinois Derby Saturday.

BY FRENCH LANE.

There was such a buzz and a hum of activity at the Washington Park race course yesterday that it quickened the pulse of several hundred visitors.

They had dropped in to see for themselves if this was the "most modern" race course in America as the new owners have claimed it will be when the Chicago metropolitan racing season opens there next Saturday.

The visitors left pretty well convinced that the track owners were right. The one big item that has made the track most modern is the huge electric totalizator board which in tests has operated to perfection, recording all wagers straight, place, and show the instant they are made.

Totalizer Improves Plant.

This machine, the newest thing in totalizators, added to numerous other improvements in the general appointments of the course, has made Washington Park a standout among great turf properties and its early summer season no doubt will be one of the high spots of the year in American racing.

From the four corners of the racing map came horses—fast ones and, of course, some slow ones—to take part in this 31 day meeting. Shipments poured in throughout the day from the Churchill Downs track in Kentucky. From New York came the extensive stable owned by Mrs. John Hertz, which for the first time will engage in a campaign at the Washington Park track. From Maryland, where the season closed a week ago, there came a steady stream of horses that have been racing at Pimlico.

On the back stretch the training hour was the busiest of the year around Chicago. Clockers—both professional and amateurs—appeared to be literally popping out of the air.

The movements of the 3 year olds caught the eyes of all, for these fellows go to bat on Friday in the $10,000 Illinois Derby, the closing headliner at Aurora, and the first stake race of the year to be run in the Chicago District. Roman Soldier, Whiskolo, Black Helen, and Slim Rosie, were some of the Derby candidates in action. They'll move to Aurora later this week.

Older horses prepped for their engagement in the $5,000 Chicago handicap, which is to be the feature of Washington Park's opening day program. From the manner in which he went about his work, the California conditioned Top Row, indicated he will be pretty hard to trim in this number.

There may be as many as 15 or 18 starters in the Chicago handicap and if the track remains in its present condition a new record may be established.

The field for the $10,000 Aurora Derby also will be a large one. A conservative check of the entry list yesterday revealed that at least 16 Derby trial ..... 11 109 J. Sylvester 20-1

Fish Biting, Woods Green in Wisconsin

BY BOB BECKER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Gunlock Lake, Wis., May 19.—The May sunshine is flashing on the pike, muskie, and bass lakes here in vacationland. Smoke is curling upward from the chimneys of summer cottages. From the shoreline of the lakes, where birch and poplar trees are showing a flush of green, come the songs of the white-throated sparrows, orioles, and the song sparrows. Hurrying up and down the highways are cars filled with contented fishermen wearing plaid woolen shirts and other clothing that marks the angler from the city. And to finish this picture of the opening week of the 1935 Wisconsin fishing season the boats are coming in to the docks as evening falls with dandy strings of wall-eyes and an occasional muskie.

We have been fishing several lakes up here in the Flambeau Indian reservation where we used to do considerable exploring and casting many years ago. With Bill at the oars we have used a little salesmanship on the wall-eyes in Gunlock lake. Then we spent an afternoon on Fence lake where the wall-eyes run large and one can usually connect with enough fish to make up a nice string.

Just to vary the program and try our luck with the fly rod we spent several hours casting a Cahill, Royal Coachman, and several other trout patterns at brook trout southwest of the reservation. But behind all this activity with rod, line, and lures has been the fun of seeing the woods just starting to put on the green of spring, of hearing the birds serenade as you sit in your boat, and of seeing the excitement that prevails in the Indian village as the Indian guides get their call to start fishing again with anglers that bid them boodbye last fall.

Fence lake, one of our favorite pike lakes in Wisconsin, certainly has started out the season with a high batting average. With a nice breeze rippling the surface of this clear-water lake and bright sun overhead Frank McDonald of Highland Park, Ill., Leonard Niesen of Milwaukee, and E. E. Price and L. A. Drew of Winnetka, tackled Fence yesterday and checked in a dandy string of pike-perch.

Price landed one dark colored specimen that tipped the scales at five pounds. There were a number of wall-eyes in the combined string around 3 pounds.

U. S. MAY RAISE ENOUGH WHEAT FOR OWN NEEDS

Would Be First Time Since 1932.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

For the first since 1932 the United States promises this year to grow enough wheat to supply its needs. It is doubtful if the harvest results in a surplus of any considerable size for sale in foreign markets, but grain men are looking to the time when the country will be back on an export basis.

The American price level is still far above that of foreign countries, but in the last few weeks there has been a narrowing of the price differential. Wheat values have been deflated more rapidly in Chicago than in Liverpool, Winnipeg, and other foreign markets. The downward trend of prices last week in Chicago reflected the bearish sentiment resulting from the improved outlook.

May Wheat Lowest for Season.

Last week May wheat in Chicago sold at the lowest price of the season. Quoted at 89⅝ cents a bushel at the low point, this delivery was worth nearly 28 cents less than the price it commanded last August, when it reached $1.17 a bushel. The high price on the future was reached when the great drouth of 1934 was at its peak.

Deliveries against the May future must be made on wheat grown in 1934.

Prospects in the spring wheat area of the northwest are the best in several years. In the southwestern dust bowl drenching rains have been received over the last three weeks. They came too late to save much of the crop in that area but have been helpful in replenishing the depleted subsoil moisture reserve.

It is doubtful if any of the wheat acreage that has been abandoned in the southwest can be reclaimed. Actual harvest returns on the winter crop, however, are expected to exceed the government's May 1 estimate of 432 million bushels. In the spring wheat belt the more optimistic observers believe the crop may again reach 250 million bushels, which is considered a normal output.

Need 650 Million Bushels.

If the aggregate crop of winter and spring wheat reaches 650 million bushels the domestic requirements will have been met. Any excess over that figure will again make the United States a potential exporter.

The following table shows the range of prices for the principal futures for the season and the high and low quotations for the week:

63 YEARS ON JOB, SAYS OLD DAYS WERE HUMBUG

New York, May 19.—(AP)—At 85, and still adding to a lifetime of hard work, William M. Hanold today assessed six decades of American industrial history and reached the conclusion that modern business methods are the top.

"The good old days were all humbug," said Hanold, who knew them from the start of the industrial revolution which carried America from man to machine at the start of '50s and there on. Hanold has been employed continuously by the same company for 63 years.

Today, still vigorous and bucking "those dern subway crowds" twice daily from home to office, Hanold looked back to 1872 when he answered a newspaper "want ad" and went to work as a shipping clerk with H. W. Johns in a dingy plant on Williams street employing only four men, which grew to the Johns-Manville corporation.

"In the old days," he said, "it was the sentiment that everything new was so much humbug. New firms with something good to sell had a hard row to hoe. Business is on an entirely different plane today. Engineering principles and scientific accuracy have been responsible for the change."

Steel Output Rises as Auto Strikes End

Labor settlements in the automobile industry had a steadying influence on iron and steel markets last week, with operations rising 1 point to 45½ per cent of production capacity, says the magazine Steel. Extension of prices for the third quarter was claimed as the most significant development of the week.

Iron and steel producers made the decision to extend present quarter prices through the next quarter in the face of fresh inflation sentiment and increased costs due to freight surcharges. This extension of prices means that there will be no speculative buying, such as stimulated operations a year ago.

"What prices eventually will prevail for the third quarter depends on the fate of NRA and the steel code on June 16," the journal says. "The apparent intent in reaffirming prices at this time is to stabilize the future markets. Out of the industry's two year experience with its code there has come a recognizable base of fair prices and practices.

Expects Competition Control.

"Even though the code be abolished, under the laws against unfair trade practices the industry now could maintain reasonable control over competition. This is true concerning all coded industries. Undoubtedly, consumers are adopting a 'wait and see' attitude. Necessary requirements are being placed but the size of orders from many sources is being scaled down and inventories are being reduced."

Passage of the Wagner labor bill by the senate has intensified uncertainties just as labor skies were believed to be clearing, the review continues. Of the NRA and the Wagner bill, the steel industry would much prefer continuation of the NRA as the least disturbing, it is stated.

A large proportion of the material recently suspended by Chevrolet and Fisher has been released, the journal says.

Changes in Areas Shown.

Operations during the week gained 2 points to 38 per cent at Pittsburgh, 12 points to 94 per cent in Detroit, 4 points to 50 per cent in New England, ½ point to 28½ per cent in eastern Pennsylvania, and 2 points to 32 per cent in Buffalo. Wheeling was down 8 points to 73 per cent, and Chicago was off 1 point to 51½ per cent. Operations were unchanged at 51 per cent in Cleveland, 54½ per cent in Birmingham, and 50 per cent at Youngstown.

TRADE LEADER URGES BUSINESS FIGHT BANK BILL

Washington, D. C., May 19.—(AP)—American business as represented by the United States Chamber of Commerce tonight was urged by Harper Sibley to fight enactment of the administration bill to strengthen federal reserve board control over money and credit.

Currency deterioration, lower banking standards, injuries to business credit, and facilitation of "disastrous inflation" were only a few of the objections raised by Sibley, the chamber's new president, in letters to 1,500 member organizations.

He said it was in the "interest of business" that federal reserve sections of the banking measure now before the Glass senate subcommittee should not become law.

In attacking the plan to increase the reserve board's powers over purchases of government securities, bank reserves, and other centralizing features of the bill, Sibley said:

"More extensive power would be permitted a few men in Washington than is granted to the board of any foreign central bank.

"The reserve system would be changed to incorporate some of the worst features of foreign central banking. Principal among these are political domination and subordination of its operations to partisan politics."

NORTHERN STATES PROFIT DECLINES AS COSTS MOUNT

Despite an increase in revenues, net income of the Northern States Power company in 1934 showed a decline from that of 1933 as a result of higher taxes, increased operating costs due to the NRA, etc., according to the annual report of R. F. Pack, president. Net income of the company and subsidiaries totaled $5,175,602 as compared with $5,787,622 in 1933.

Operating revenues totaled $32,064,739 as compared with $30,949,255 in 1933. Operating expenses totaled $20,341,530 compared with $18,537,412 in 1933. Taxes, including provision for income taxes, totaled $4,514,037, an increase of 18.57 per cent as compared with 1933.

Mr. Pack reported that the outlook for the company, whose subsidiaries operate in Minnesota and Wisconsin, is improved because of the better agricultural situation which should be reflected in the cities served.

British Weigh Morgenthau's Stability Plea

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 19.—Secretary Henry Morgenthau's speech on the American currency program pretty much colored last week, with Chancellor of the Exchequer Neville Chamberlain's characteristic and familiar utterances acquiring mild interest chiefly from the Washington address.

More highbrow British financial editors were favorably impressed with the American treasury chief's speech. "Sound sense," said, in effect, the Financial News, while the financial editor of the Manchester Guardian devoted nearly a column to it with strictures on the unhelpful character of the British official attitude of "wait and see." But those commentators who are supposed to reflect official opinion held markedly aloof.

Doubt U. S. Coöperation.

For example, the Morning Post remarked that international stabilization of currencies refers to coöperation "and coöperation is something that never seems to come very easily with the United States." At bottom this almost certainly is the official view.

President Roosevelt made the leading British statesmen look silly when he peremptorily broke up the tepid exchange pegging agreement reached at the world economic conference.

Deny U. S. Buying Silver.

Violent fluctuations in the price of silver continue to attract attention, although bullion brokers assure there is not the slightest sign that the United States treasury is buying silver in London. And it is perhaps for this reason that the curious theory has been evolved that the unknown buyer who stepped in and bought silver after every one of its drops has been the new Chinese exchange equalization fund.

Theoretically, of course, the Chinese government dislikes the current rise in silver, for it makes the cost of Chinese goods, which must be paid for in silver, too high. But it is pointed out that authorities over there plan some day to devalue the currency in order to relieve the situation and if they might like also to have a good supply of government owned silver on hand, paper profits would furnish these much needed funds.

GROESBECK ASKS INVESTORS' AID ON UTILITY BILL

New York, May 19.—[Special.]—C. E. Groesbeck, chairman of the Electric Bond and Share company, which controls public utilities in many parts of the country, and H. Hobart Porter, president of the American Water Works and Electric company, have issued appeals to their security holders urging them to send telegraphic protests to their senators against the Wheeler-Rayburn bill.

"We feel it is our duty to keep our stockholders informed," said Mr. Groesbeck, "and to point out to them that if they want to protect their investments quick action is necessary in expressing their opposition to this bill because of the extraordinary efforts being made to rush this destructive measure into law."

FAVORABLE WEATHER AIDS BOTH THE RETAIL AND WHOLESALE TRADE

Favorable weather strengthened both wholesale and retail activity here last week, according to the Chicago Association of Commerce. Buying of early summer wares in retail establishments assumed a volume long awaited. House furnishings appeared as much in favor as merchandise for personal use.

Wholesale activity was boosted by out of town merchants rushing to replenish inventories for a seasonal demand that has been later than normal this year. Mail order houses also shared in the improvement.

Building material companies reported another good week, with a much more buoyant tone ruling in the construction field.

Industrial volume was about steady. While there were no appreciable gains in employment, the general picture appeared satisfactory in all but a few lines where strikes are holding up commitments.

WHEAT NATIONS MEET IN LONDON ON NEW ACCORD

LONDON, May 19.—(AP)—An attempt to frame a new international wheat pact to replace the 1933 agreement which expires Aug. 1 will be made at the wheat conference opening Wednesday. North American delegates arrived today, hoping to hold a preliminary consultation with Argentina's representatives, who usually are found standing alone against the United States, Canada, Australia, and European nations in these negotiations.

Rival exporting nations agree it is impossible to continue such an agreement as was drawn up and signed here following upon the world economic conference.

The issue centers around the problem of a basis for apportioning export quotas among the big four—the United States, Argentina, Australia, and Canada. Argentina exceeded its quota by 37,000,000 bushels last year, but has already served notice it would not be bound by this year's allotment.

U. S. Refunds HOLC Bonds; Cuts Interest to 1½ Per Cent

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 19.—[Special.]—Last of the Home Owners Loan corporation's 4 per cent interest guaranteed bonds, amounting to approximately $325,000,000 worth, were today called for redemption on July 1.

At the same time that John H. Fahey, HOLC chairman, called the old 4 per cent bonds Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, acting for the HOLC, offered to refund the called bonds into a new series of four year 1½ per cent bonds of the corporation.

One of the sharpest interest reductions in the history of government financing will thus be accomplished by the refunding. Replacement of 325 million dollars' worth of 4 per cent bonds with 1½ per cent bonds will cut the annual interest charges from $13,000,000 to $4,875,000, a saving of $8,125,000, or 63 per cent, a year.

Aimed at Interest Cut.

The 4 per cent bonds would not mature until 1951. The refunding is entirely aimed at this interest reduction.

The new HOLC issue offered by Secretary Morgenthau carries one of the lowest interest rates for comparable securities in the history of government borrowing. There will be no immediate cash sale of these new bonds. They can be obtained now only in exchange for the called 4 per cent bonds, but they may be offered for cash later in an amount sufficient to pay off any of the 4 per cent bonds not refunded.

The refunding marks the retirement of the last HOLC bonds which were guaranteed by the government only as to interest. During the first year of HOLC operations it was authorized to issue only bonds with a government guarantee covering the interest.

Law Is Amended.

At the end of the first year, however, the law was amended to place a full government guarantee behind both the principal and interest of future issues, such as that carried by the new 1½ per cent series. All of the partially guaranteed bonds except the $325,000,000 called today have already been refunded into fully guaranteed bonds.

Although they are being forced to take a severe interest cut, holders of the called 4 per cent bonds in many instances may be able to offset this by a tidy increment in principal. When the 4 per cent bonds were first issued in 1933 they sold at a heavy discount, going as low as 86.

Have 16 Per Cent Profit.

Investors who bought them at that price have a 16 per cent profit on their principal. The 4 per cent bonds will be exchanged at par if their holders care to refund them, or they will be paid off at par on July 1, plus interest to July 1.

The new bonds will be dated June 1 and will bear interest from that date. They will mature June 15, 1939, and will not be subject to call prior to maturity. They are tax exempt.

Bearer bonds with interest coupons attached will be issued in denominations of $25, $50, $100, $500, $1,000, $5,000, $10,000, and $100,000. They will not be issued in registered form.

FIVE HOUR TRAIN IS ANNOUNCED FOR DETROIT RUN

What is said to be the fastest railroad pasenger service ever offered between Chicago and Detroit will be started June 2 by the Michigan Central railroad's Twilight Limited, it was announced by Henry Shearer, vice president and general manager.

The train will make the 283½ mile run in 5 hours, lopping a half hour off present schedules. It will travel at an average speed of 56.6 miles an hour. Departure time in both cities has been set back to permit business men to have a full day before leaving.

The Twilight will leave Chicago at 4:30 p. m., standard time, arriving in Detroit at 10:30, eastern time.

Investment Bankers Find Business Is Improved

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., May 19.—(AP)—The industrial securities committee of the Investment Bankers Association of America today said in an interim report that "business generally throughout the country has improved" and that "prospects for further improvement are good."

Transit Company Revenue Reported in Slight Drop

Transit company revenue for the week ended May 11 was slightly less than in the preceding week, according to reports to the Transit Journal, whose index stood at 98.02, compared with 98.22 in the week ended May 4.

INFLATION TALK BOOSTS TRADE IN WALL STREET

Prices Rise; Volume Expands Sharply.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 19.—Hopes and fears of inflation have come to sway speculative sentiment in Wall street almost to the exclusion of all else.

Indications that the Patman bonus measure may be finally enacted in spite of the impending veto and some $2,000,000,000 in greenback currency thus added to the country's circulating media of exchange, the tremendous possibilities of further credit expansion under the pending banking bill, and anticipated effects of the allotment of the $4,800,000,000 relief money now getting under way have set investors searching anew for means of hedging against the depreciation of their currency which they see looming up ahead.

Trading Increases Sharply.

A gradually swelling stream of investment funds affected by this concern is finding its way into the stock market. The result is a bigger and better market with every passing week. Last week was the most active of the entire movement so far, a total of 8,228,545 shares changing hands. On one trading day—Thursday—there was the biggest turnover since the exchange commission took charge of Wall street, 2,420,000 shares.

Average prices on industrial stocks rose to the highest level since last November and the combined index of fifty representative issues went to a new high for the year. Railroad shares gained a half point or so on the week, but fell a good 4 points or more shy of their 1935 peak registered early in January. The utilities actually lost ground, due to popular disappointment over revisions of the Wheeler-Rayburn bill, revisions which failed to take the teeth out of the measure as the street had been led to hope.

The wave of bullish enthusiasm

6:30 P. M. Blue Ballroom — Tuesday, May 21 Auditorium Hotel

This lecture, which opens our semi-annual Loop C. P. A. IT CAME AS A SURPRISE . . .

they were less secure under his estate plans than he had believed

A Northern Trust Plan disclosed the reason and pointed out the needed revisions in his arrangements

IT HAPPENS frequently. Changed conditions may alter the effectiveness of a carefully thought-out estate program.

To readjust estate arrangements in the light of shifting circumstance is one of the purposes of a Northern Trust Plan. The development of such a plan begins with a thorough analysis of an individual's property, the needs of his beneficiaries, and his own wishes regarding his estate.

Those who make this survey are experienced representatives of The Northern Trust Company, which for 45 years has served as executor-trustee for many hundreds of estates. They, with your attorney's approval, would pursue these objectives: to make death duties less burdensome by anticipating them; to accomplish every saving permissible under the new revenue schedules; and to co-ordinate all assets into a single plan for greater economy.

Upon request from you and your attorney, a Northern Trust Plan will be developed specifically for you, without cost or obligation.

Of special interest are our four booklets, "The Cost of Transferring an Estate." Each deals with an estate of different size, $250,000, $500,000, $750,000, and $1,000,000. We will mail a copy of the one which interests you. There is, of course, no charge.

INFLATION TALK BOOSTS TRADE IN WALL STREET

began to subside on Friday, following the President's announcement of his intention to deliver his bonus bill veto in person and dispatches indicating that champions of the measure were not so certain of mustering enough senate strength to override the veto. Yesterday's short session saw a still further recession both in prices and activity. The combined averages showed only a small fractional net gain on the week, having subsided a point and a half from Thursday's peak.

The week's activity was well apportioned throughout the market, the chief trading favorites, as shown by the transaction totals, including such issues as American Can, Atchison, General Foods, General Motors, Johns-Manville, Standard Oil of New Jersey, United States Steel, Douglas Aircraft, Consolidated Gas, Chrysler, Anaconda Copper, and American Telephone. Silver shares were a backward group, although the gold miners showed fresh signs of life toward the last of the week.

Trade News Cuts Little Ice.

Trade developments cut little apparent ice in the market situation. Reports from the chief centers of activity were mildly favorable, but were too patently uninspiring to furnish much stimulation, especially with thoughts of inflation so prominently in the popular mind. The summary included reports of a slight increase in retail buying, an upturn in the steel industry's production rate, after several weeks of decline, and a small rise in railroad trafic, which continues to run under a year ago.

U. S. Radiator Corporation.

Investors' Guide: Inclosed please find stamped, addressed envelope. I ask that you kindly mail me a financial report on United States Radiator corporation.—S. H. E.

Answer: United States Radiator corporation manufactures cast iron low pressure heating boilers and radiators. The boilers are used mainly in moderate sized buildings. Derth of building has prevented the company's making a favorable showing for the last five years, although improvement was shown last year, due to the stimulus of the federal housing administration program.

During the year ended Jan. 31, 1935, the company lost $464,000, against losses of $888,000, $1,544,000, $1,289,000, and $642,000 for the four preceding years. During the seven prior years profits ranged from $549,000 to $1,521,000.

On Jan. 31, 1935, current assets, including cash of $242,000, totaled $5,573,000 and current liabilities were $135,000.

Last year the company had to borrow $600,000 from banks to take care of seasonal increase in business. On April 11, 1935, it was announced that these loans had been liquidated and a line of credit established to take care of 1935 seasonal requirements.

The series of losses has pushed profit and loss deficit up to $1,315,000. Funded debt due 1938 totals $2,331,000. On May 14, 1934, the company had to ask bondholders to agree to a modification of the bond indenture regarding working capital.

There are outstanding 42,096 shares of 7 per cent $100 par cumulative preferred on which nothing has been paid since April 15, 1931, and 211,672 shares of no par common.

Poor earnings record, contracting working capital and approaching bond maturity make the preferred and common purely speculative.

Atlantic Fruit and Sugar.

Investors' Guide: Will you please give me the latest information as to the value of Atlantic Fruit and Sugar company?—Miss S. M. M.

Answer: Atlantic Fruit and Sugar company was incorporated in 1924 as a reorganization of Atlantic Fruit company. It was placed in receivership on Dec. 29, 1931, and on June 1, 1932, was dissolved.

An attorney acting for the company announced that first mortgage bondholders would not be paid in full. On the basis of this information the second mortgage and the income debenture bonds, as well as the stock of the company, are worthless.

GEORGIAN HOTEL REFINANCE PLAN IS MADE PUBLIC

Bondholders to Get New Securities.

BY AL CHASE.

A reorganization plan for the eight story Georgian hotel property, at the southeast corner of Hinman avenue and Davis street, Evanston, has been submitted to the United States District court for approval, under the provisions of section 77B of the amended bankruptcy act. Paul Steinbrecher, a member of the bondholders' committee, announced yesterday the adoption of the plan which was formulated jointly by the Georgian Hotel corporation and the committee.

The plan provides that the holder of every $1,000 first mortgage bond will receive a new 5 per cent income bond for $500 and a certificate representing ten shares of common stock of the new company to be organized to take title to the property.

Stock to Other Bondholders.

In addition to the stock issued to the first mortgage bondholders, the reorganization plan provides for the issuance of 385 shares for the benefit of the holders of general mortgage bonds of which they are $39,500 outstanding, and 119 shares for the S. W. Assets Liquidation corporation in return for the cancellation of subordinated first and general mortgage bonds and interest held by it. This latter represents advances for the payment of these obligations by S. W. Straus & Co.

The remaining 30 per cent of stock will go to the second mortgage bondholders, general creditors and present stockholders of the Georgian Hotel corporation for distribution among them in the proportion considered fair by the court.

As there are 1,000 holders of first mortgage bonds, the committee stated that it believes they should be organized for centralized administration by stock deposit under a trust agreement. The committee, however, contemplates letting the bondholders decide whether they want that done or whether they prefer stock certificates issued directly to them. The orginal first mortgage bond issue was for $1,300,000, of which $1,255,500 are outstanding.

South Park Building.

The Georgian hotel committee, which consists of George W. Rossetter, chairman; Jay C. McCord and Mr. Steinbrecher, also announced the adoption of a reorganization plan for the South Park building, at the northwest corner of 63d street and South Park avenue, containing stores, apartments, hotel rooms, and offices.

It was financed by a $500,000 S. W. Straus & Co. mortgage, of which $332,500 remains outstanding. Like that of the Georgian hotel, this reorganization also will be submitted for the approval of the district court.

SECONDARY LIENS MOVE FORWARD IN BOND MARKET

Inflation Developments React on Trade.

New York, May 19.—(AP)—The bond market was extremely sensitive to inflationary developments last week and values rose or fell with each turn in the tide.

Low priced issues that would stand the best chance of appreciating in value were in broad demand when inflationary sentiment reached its highest peak on Thursday, but subsequently softened up when it became a certainty that the President would oppose the Patman bonus bill in vigorous language.

High Grade Issues Ease.

The standard investment type of bond continued in a narrow trading range, with the highest priced issues losing a trifle on the week. United States government bonds were subjected to the usual round of gossip that precedes each periodical financing program of the government and an attitude of caution developed among traders and investors in this type of security. The opinion was voiced in several quarters that a major piece of new financing on June 15 could be expected.

While there was some letup in the fast pace set by refunding operations, the week was not without developments from this quarter. Directors of Armour & Co. [Delaware] took action calculated to pave the way for refunding the company's $42,000,000 issue of 5½ per cent bonds and the American Rolling Mills company filed formal registration with the SEC seeking to issue $25,000,000 of ten year convertible debentures. The interest rate was not specified in the registration statement.

Others to Follow.

A very short time financial circles expect a new issue of $15,000,000 National Distillers' Products corporation bonds to be floated to be followed by the $50,000,000 issue of National Steel corporation on which the prospectus has already been filed with the SEC.

EXPECT BUILDING IMPROVEMENT.
